HELPING WETS — The latest "blue law" move, to enforce a particular sort of Sunday observance on those who believe in another sort, will, of course, come to nothing. California has always rejected such laws, even when they conformed to the customs and to many of the laws of other States. Now that Sunday observance has become more liberal everywhere else, it is certainly not going to become less so here.

In fact, all these "blue law" movements have only one tangible result, that is to serve as a talking point for the wets. The common slogan is against "laws to tell me what I shall eat, drink and wear." Of course, nobody of importance proposes any laws about what you shall eat or wear.

There is no analogy between the right to drink and the right to eat. Laws regarding drink are proper, while similar laws regarding food are improper. Even smoking is not in the same class. The laws regarding tobacco might be abstractly desirable, but they should not be passed, nor advocated even by those who think they would be a good thing. And Sunday laws ought to be reprehended, especially by sincere drys. For precisely the point to be made, in resisting the wet propaganda, is to emphasize the difference between laws relating to drink and laws relating to other personal matters.

The most insidious enemy of the dry movement is he who helps put in the mouth of the wets their most specious argument.

TIERED OF THE JOB—"Everybody is tired of democracy," says Bernard Shaw. So he proposes a panel of superior persons, like himself, to rule over us.

To be sure! We are all tired of the job of governing ourselves, and would like to shift it to someone else. But we would never stand for him if we did. If he were a superior person, such as Shaw says he is, we would not endure the humiliation of his superiority. If he were an average person, we should resent his incapacity. A representative person we would soon change and to an unrepresentative one we would not long submit. So it finally comes back to governing ourselves. And we do not like that either.

Of course, what it actually comes to is either demagoguery or leadership.

The demagogue is a quick doctor who gives the people what they think they want, for what they think asks them. If we get better, he takes the credit. If they get worse, he tells them they have contracted something new, for which he also has a remedy. Finally, of course, he gets found out, but meantime it is a good game.

The salvation of democracy is leadership. But that is not for the people. It is for those whom the people will follow, but who do not know where to go. There are those who know where to go, but whom the people will not follow. There are those who have both talents, but devote them to other things than government.

And always there are the people, who get tired of the job just when one more push would finish it.

So we blunder along, most of the time not much more foolishly than the ancients, who, after all, did arrive at where they started us. It is only at great crises that the blundering is permanently dangerous. Then the world leaps forward a thousand years in a generation, or goes to a crash which it takes a thousand years to patch up. The terrible thing is that we appear to be now at such a crisis, with neither the leadership nor the will to follow it.

BLUFF CHARGES — Attorney General Daugherty is obviously not an ideal cabinet officer. His appointment was unfortunate, and his record since has been a burden to the Harding administration. His bungling of the injunction cases aroused Samuel Gompers to a counter-blunder.

Gompers started out to "get" Daugherty, rather than to discredit or refute him. But these fees are no reason for taking seriously the impeachment proceedings.

Congressman Keller, the ostensible accuser, has exhibited himself as a cheap demagogue. If he had the evidence which he pretends he has, and if the investigating committee were as biased as he pretends it is, he could have named the committee by presenting his evidence. He could have forced the committee to choose between backing down on the alleged progress of whitewashing a transparently filthy man. In the last resort, it is the court of public opinion that decides. Before that court Keller stands as a bluff and Daugherty is entitled to at least a verdict by default.

Indian's Report of Finding Bodies and Plane Under Inquiry

AWAIT WORD FROM DESERT SEARCHERS

Conflicting Rumors Causes Air Service to Hold Hope for Men

(United Press Leased Wire)

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 22.—Mystery still shrouds the fate of Colonel Francis Marshall and Lieut. Charles Webber, army aviators, whose bodies, burned to a crisp, beside their wrecked plane, were reported late yesterday to have been found near Indian Oasis, 75 miles south of Tucson in the heart of the desert.

The report was brought by a Papago Indian, who was said to have been despatched by two cowboys who had discovered the plane.

Officials here have sent several planes to scout the district, and parties of automobile searchers have also been sent.

A later report was that the plane was not wrecked at Indian Oasis, but near a spot called Covered Wells, to the north.

The Indian reported that he had seen the plane with its nose stuck into the ground, but that he only saw the burned body of one of the aviators. This led army authorities here to hope that one of the two aviators, at least, had escaped death by cremation.

Indian Oasis is 35 miles from the railroad, and is headquarters for the Indian agent on the Papago reservation.

Another report, which was without verification, was that the two cowboys were bringing the bodies of the aviators to Tucson.

OFFICIALS AWAIT NEWS ON FINDING OF BODIES

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 22.—Confirmation of yesterday's reports over Southern Pacific's wires that the bodies of Colonel Francis C. Marshall and Lieutenant Charles Webber had been found in their burned plane near Indian Oasis, Ariz., was anxiously waited at Rockwell field army air station here today.

Word from the cavalry sent out from Fort Huachuca was expected some time this afternoon, it was announced.

BORAH SAYS WORLD FACES NAVAL RACE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The world is threatened with another naval armament's race, Senator Borah declared in the senate today in pressing the fight to include in the naval appropriations bill a provision asking President Harding to call a world economic and disarmament conference.

PARIS, Dec. 22.—Premier Poincaré today requested the committee on naval affairs to report in favor of ratification of the Washington arms treaties.

A minority of the committee was said to favor ratification without reservation.

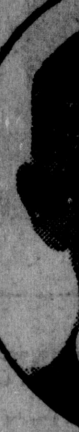

BERLIN, Dec. 22.—An official denial was issued today that Germany had requested America to make overtures for a joint American allied commission to fix reparations.

Panic Adds to Danger in Fire After Trolley Wire Falls Endangering Firemen.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Thirteen persons were injured in a spectacular fire that drove scores of apartment house occupants to the street in their night clothes in the Williamsburgh section of Brooklyn early today.

Some of the firemen were injured by a falling trolley wire which caused explosions. Others were hurt by collapse of the front wall and roof of the I. A. Business building, occupied by a baby carriage concern, where the fire was believed to have started.

Light wires were put out of commission, throwing the scene into darkness, save for the flames, and causing a panic.

Five adjoining dwelling houses caught fire and several apartments were endangered before the blaze was brought under control at 6 o'clock this morning.

SHADY DANCING IN NIGHT HALLS TO BE BARRED

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Dance hall proprietors of New York City have agreed to co-operate in the elimination of the "Chicago," "balconading" slow dancing and "parking" from the public dance halls of New York City. The agreement was brought about by Mrs. George W. Loft, deputy police commissioner.

Allow Tight Dancing.
Mrs. Loft declares slow and tight dancing was permitted in many dance halls, that complaints from mothers were flooding the police department and that Commissioner Enright was prepared to take dramatic measures by way of arrests and the cancellations of licenses to put a stop to it. She said that Commissioner Enright had suggested as a possible alternative the voluntary purification of public dancing by the dance hall proprietors.

All the dance hall proprietors agreed that voluntary action was desirable.

"The worst dancing is at the best hotels," one of the dance hall proprietors said. Mrs. Loft is said to have agreed with this, but to have contended that such dancing was not so pernicious because it affected comparatively few, while thousands were trained in various styles of dancing at the public halls. It was said to be impracticable, from the police standpoint, to regulate closely what took place at private affairs.

"Parking" Described.
One of the dance hall proprietors said that one form of dancing was so bad as the failure to dance, which is now said to be becoming popular on many floors in New York City. This abuse was technically described as "parking" by the man who denounced it.

"Parking," he said, "is when a couple takes the floor to dance and then stop dancing. They simply stay on the one spot all through the dance. There are any number of variations to this."

The "Chicago" was described as a slow step belonging to callisthenics rather than to the dance. "Balconading," was described concisely as "rough."

POLICE TAKE THREE DOPE SUSPECTS

List of Supposed Customers of Gang Contains Name of Film Star

(United Press Licensed Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Three alleged "dope peddlers" who are believed to have been supplying Wally Reid as well as a number of other people in the film colony, were arrested here early today by the police narcotic squad.

A quantity of narcotics was seized.

Evidence against them, police declare, is a little red book found by a patrolman several days ago in a car parked in front of a rooming house. The book contained the names of a number of Hollywood picture people, including Wally Reid.

Since then the narcotic squad has trailed the men and their machine through Hollywood to various homes and studios.

Clinton L. Johnson, 37, one of the men arrested, has admitted the book as his property, police say. The other two arrested were Joseph Skuris, 25, known as "Jimmy the Greek," said to be a notorious underworld character, and an asserted user of narcotics, and J. E. Harvey, said to be the driver of the "dope car." All three men had narcotics in their possession, police said.

An effort is to be made to get the men to confess to the complete list of their clients in Hollywood, of whom there are believed to be many.

A fourth suspect, high up in "dope" circles, is being sought by the police and with his arrest additional light, it is believed, will be shed on activities of the "dope ring" which has been doing business on a wholesale scale in Los Angeles and Hollywood.

PLOT SEEN AS FAME CHURCH IS BURNED

(United Press Licensed Wire)

QUEBEC, Que., Dec. 22.—The Church of Notre Dame De La Recouvrance, oldest Basilica in the city, and many art treasures were destroyed in a fire that left the edifice a mass of ruins early today.

For a time many of the city's finest buildings were endangered. These included the Chateau Frontenac, the Canadian Pacific railroad hotel and newspaper offices.

The fire was believed to have been incendiary. The chief of detectives received a threatening letter several days ago saying the church, most beautiful in all Canada, would be burned December 18. The blaze was a climax to others in Canada recently, which destroyed churches.

The same fire bug, police said, is believed to have been responsible for the destruction of many religious edifices in the last few years.

SAN DIEGO HIGHWAY OPEN FOR HOLIDAYS

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 22.—The state highway commissioner announced here today that there will be no detours on the Los Angeles-San Diego highway, beginning at noon tomorrow and extending over the Christmas holiday.

A detour at San Juan Capistrano and another at La Jolla recently made the going difficult in wet weather. The news that the highway would be open to traffic all the way was taken as an indication that a record breaking holiday crowd will spend Christmas in San Diego.

Both the Tia Juana racing and the Gonzaga-West Virginia football game are expected to attract thousands.

THREE HURT FROM BLAST IN ARSENAL

Mysterious Explosion Scatters Shrapnel Among Workmen. Two of Whom May Die.

MARTINEZ, Calif., Dec. 22.—Three civilian employees at the Benecia military arsenal were critically injured this morning when a shrapnel shell which the men were moving, exploded, hurling the death pellets in all directions.

Clarence Thomas, one of the injured workmen, is not expected to live. William Fox, foreman, suffered a cut in the abdomen and other injuries which may also prove fatal. He was rushed to the Letterman general hospital in San Francisco. Arthur Harris suffered a broken right leg and pieces of shrapnel pierced his body in several places.

Military authorities at the arsenal refused to give out any statement concerning the accident pending a meeting of the board of inquiry which will be held this afternoon.

S. A. AUTO MAN, ATKINSON, IN FLIGHT, WHEN

Robert Atkinson, prominent in automobile circles here for more than two years past, today was missing from his home and accustomed business location.

Indications pointed to desertion of his wife, who is at the family home, 807 Spurgeon street. Indications also pointed to the automobile man having left a number of creditors.

In the opinion of Mrs. Atkinson her husband has been contemplating sudden disappearance for some time, and as she reflected today on certain actions of her husband in the past few months she recalled a number of incidents that pointed to preparations for leaving the city suddenly.

According to her statement, she has been left penniless.

Mrs. Atkinson returned home last night from a visit in Pasadena with San Tustin, formerly of Tustin and his sisters. When she reached home she found that Atkinson had packed his personal effects and departed. He left no note or anything that would indicate to his wife his intention as to his plans or probable destination.

- Boarded Boat, Belief

Mrs. Atkinson believes that sometime yesterday or last night her husband boarded a boat at San Pedro for some distant port.

Atkinson was last seen here yesterday at about 10 a. m., at the garage of the Appleby Motor company, Birch and Fifth streets, where he was employed.

Urged by Atkinson to go to Pasadena to spend several days with the Tustins, Mrs. Atkinson went there Wednesday morning. Yesterday at about 10 a. m. he called Mrs. Atkinson at Pasadena by phone and made arrangements under which he was to have met her and her hosts in Los Angeles last night at 7 o'clock, with a dinner and theater party planned as the entertainment for the evening.

When Atkinson had not arrived at 9 o'clock, Mrs. Atkinson telephoned to Mrs. W. B. Leecraft, who, with her family, occupies part of the same house in which Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson resided. Mrs. Leecraft was asked if she knew anything of Atkinson's

Federal Agents Say Wright Act to Clean Up Beach Liquor Operatives

With city, county, state and federal officers uniting in a determined drive to stamp out illicit liquor traffic in Southern California, and with Seal Beach again in the limelight by reason of arrests made there by government officers, Orange county authorities today were prepared to do their full share in the enforcement of the Wright act now in effect in this state.

Seal Beach, according to federal officers who arrested A. O. Morrison and Arthur Newfield, asserted proprietors of a small cafe, has long been the mecca for thirsty pilgrims from Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Ana and other nearby points. Raids conducted by prohibition enforcement squads have proved futile, it is claimed, because the offenders were "tipped off" through the medium of a well developed system.

Ten gallons of liquor and a still were alleged to have been seized at the home of Mrs. Margaret Clabby, 144 North Olive street, Orange, about 8 o'clock last night, as City Marshal M. E. Jemison, O. K. Carr, special investigator for the district attorney, and C. E. Frost, a deputy, conducted the first raid in Orange county under the Wright act.

Appearing before City Recorder J. W. Ingle today, Mrs. Clabby pleaded guilty to selling, manufacturing and having in her possession illicit liquor, and was assessed $200 on each charge.

Shortly after her release by Orange authorities, a member of the district attorney's staff announced that she would be prosecuted under the Wright act. Assuming that the maximum penalty were attached on the same charges, she would spend eighteen months in jail, and pay $3,000 fine, it was pointed out.

When the officers reached the house, they found it necessary to conduct an extensive search before any evidence was found, they stated. The liquor and still were cleverly concealed under the floors, in a waste basket, beneath plants and doorsteps and in various other places, they claimed.

Mrs. Clabby is the wife of Joseph Clabby, for many years an employee of the city of Orange.

Mrs. Evelyn Trippett, housekeeper at a rooming house near the corner of Sixth and Main streets which was raided Saturday night, today in the court of City Recorder W. F. Heathman pleaded guilty to having liquor in her possession. She paid a fine of $150.

City Motorcycle Officer H. D. Jaynes today served notice on D. W. Emmett, proprietor of the rooming house in question, to appear before the city council at a meeting Tuesday night to show cause why his license should not be revoked.

Stamp Down Lid.

Under the Wright act, however, abatement proceedings will make it possible for the officers to proceed against owners and proprietors of buildings, and this, it is declared, will result in vigorous action in the beach city. Federal officers said.

Mrs. Clabby is the wife of Joseph Clabby, for many years an employee of the city of Orange.

"Orange county officers will cooperate with federal agents in every possible way in cleaning up Seal Beach or any other section of this county," said District Attorney Alex F. Nelson here today.

"If cafe proprietors, bootleggers, waiters and others think that they are going to evade arrest and prosecution in Seal Beach and Orange county they are badly mistaken. The Wright act was placed at our disposal to stamp out illicit liquor traffic, and I expect to use every means at my command to make this law effective."

Watch Operations Here.

Concerning violations of the prohibition laws in Santa Ana, proper, City Marshal Claude Rogers was emphatic in his declarations that "the bootlegger must get out of business or go to jail."

"I have instructed Santa Ana patrolmen to keep close watch on all suspicious characters," said Rogers, "and be emphatically down on the holiday season."

"It is true, of course, that runners are doing business in San

Political Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—A Christmas appeal for release of political prisoners was made today by pickets of the joint amnesty committee, who were posted at the entrance of the White House with banners asking President Harding to "make freedom of speech your Christmas gift to the nation."

Release of at least twenty-eight of the prisoners convicted in the I. W. W. trials at Chicago in 1919 may be announced before Christmas, Senator Pepper, Pennsylvania, has urged President Harding to grant the release of these twenty-eight prisoners.

MERROUGE, La., Dec. 22.—Bodies of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards, believed murdered by night riders, were found in Lake La Fourche near here, today.

The bodies were badly decomposed and pieces of wire attached to the feet indicated they had been weighted down to the bottom of the lake for several months.

A fisherman caught the bodies in his net and dragged them to the surface.

A large number of arrests was expected. State officials working on the case have intimated they have sufficient evidence to start immediate action.

Militiamen on duty here were strengthened today when mobilization orders were issued for additional guardsmen.

DENVER BANDIT TRAIL LEADS TO NEBRASKA

(United Press Leased Wire)

GREELEY, Colo., Dec. 22.—Pursuit of four men, believed to be the Denver mit bandits, was renewed at daybreak today by sheriff's posses in northeastern Colorado. The men are reported in a large automobile.

The suspected bandits spent Wednesday night in a deserted ranch house twenty miles east of here, and were discovered by Dr. J. W. Fuqua, owner of the ranch, who called at the house Wednesday evening.

Fuqua said the men were heavily armed and well supplied with ammunition. When he asked them what they were doing in the house, the men told him they were hunters and for Fuqua to "move on."

Fuqua did not report the incident to county authorities until this morning. A posse was organized and rushed to the place. No one was found, but on tips from ranchers living farther east that a large car had been seen bound for the Nebraska line, the chase was continued, but without result.

Four of the men in the car are wounded, according to John Dwyer, rancher near Greeley, who said the men stopped at his home yesterday for a bucket of water.

POLICE PLAY FRANKS
ON BROTHER OFFICER
AS HE CLAIMS BRIDE

No. Traffic Officer "Bob" Elliott has not acquired a sunburn. He has acquired a wife, and the scarlet hue of his countenance is merely a delicate blush, produced largely through the efforts of his fellow policemen.

For when Bob came to work this morning, and word of his I. M. venture into the world of matrimony became known, other blue coats proceeded to make plans for celebration.

Nothing was left undone. Among other things, the pedestal from which Elliott was accustomed to direct traffic at the intersection of Fourth and Main streets, was tastefully decorated in a scheme of rolling pins, old shoes, nursing bottles and prettily worded mottoes.

When Elliott slipped away with his bride, Bessie Githens, and with City Recorder W. F. Heathman, at 1:30 a. m. today, and proceeded to get married, he just eluded a watchful squad of fellow officers by a hair. In fact, it was said that the thoughtful brother had already visited his apartment at the Golden West hotel, and had tastefully disarranged everything therein.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Will
H. Hays today was called upon to reverse his grant of clemency to "Fatty" Arbuckle, movie comedian, by Miss Effie Macgregor, who declared she spoke in behalf of 500,000 class room teachers of America.

Miss Macgregor, public school teacher of Minneapolis, is president of the department of class room teachers of the National Education

Miss MacGregor's telegram follows:

"On behalf of the 500,000 class room teachers of America, I am requesting that you reverse your decision to grant clemency to Roscoe Arbuckle and to permit his films to be shown in the playhouses of America. The class room teachers who are in intimate daily contact with more than twenty million children, have high appreciation of the value of the right kind of motion pictures and of the co-operation of picture producers in the production of plays which are of special benefit to children.
"I am sure they will feel that this decision is a mark of insincerity on the part of those who have promised to produce better pictures. Will you not co-operate with the class room teachers of the nation by adhering to your original policy of barring the use of Arbuckle films by members of your organizations."

LEADER OF DRY FORCES GIVES OUT WARNING

By ROY A. HAYNES (Federal Prohibition Commissioner)

(Copyright, 1922, by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—With tragedy stalking hand in hand with the illicit liquor traffic, want to issue a solemn warning to the people to refrain from buying and drinking whiskey, or any other intoxicating liquor.

I issue the warning at this time not on legal grounds alone but in the sincere belief that the man or woman who consumes any of the beverages now being offered is running the danger of permanent injury or death in horrible form.

Ninety-eight per cent of beverage liquor now being peddled is unfit to drink. Practically every beverage whiskey now offered to the public carries the possibility of blindness or other physical impairment—even death. Remember that bootleggers have no scruples. They are interested only in profits. Wood alcohol and other fake deadly ingredients constitute in a large measure their illicit product.

Those who are deluded into believing that whiskey is a necessary ingredient for cheer should recall that last year at this time tragedy entered many homes throughout the country in the guise of poisonous liquors. Christmas was turned into a day of mourning.

BRITISH WARSHIPS TO PROTECT FISHERMEN

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Great Britain today sent a warship to Russian waters to protect British fishing vessels.

Early this year, Soviet men seized British trawlers, one of which was permitted to return with a loss of ten lives.

Russia claimed the British fishermen should remain outside a twelve mile limit but the British insisted they only recognized a three mile limit in such matters.

DIVORCE PAPERS ARE SENT FAR AND WIDE BUT MISS DEFENDANT

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 22.—Divorce papers intended for Charles Whaley, husband of Virginia Whaley, made the rounds of the state before being returned to Mrs. Whaley's attorney here, that the divorce finally might be granted. At Mrs. Whaley's instructions the papers, including summons and complaint, first were sent to Mansfield, Washington, Whaley's last known address. Postal authorities there remembered there was a Charles Whaley at Pateros, Wash., and forwarded the packet. Charles Whaley of Pateros being happily married, sent the papers to C. E. Whaley of Chelan, writing the latter that "I am afraid I cannot use" the instruments, having a "good wife and three good looking children." It was Whaley who finally sent the complaint back to Spokane, adding a note saying: "The one woman I have had for the last forty years still holds the fort."

CONFESSES WHEN TOLD HIS VICTIM IS IRISH

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 22.—Willingness to plead guilty to a charge of burglary was expressed by William Curry, aged 25, when he learned his victim also was Irish. Curry was arrested after reports had been received that Peter Brennan, aged 70, had been robbed of a coat and shirt by a prowler who entered his room at 3 a. m. "That's a dirty trick, robbing an old crippled Irishman!" one of the policemen told Curry. "What?" Curry was quoted as exclaiming. "Was he Irish? Well, I should get lift for that! By gory, I wouldn't done it for worlds had I known. I'll show you where I threw the shirt and we'll give it and the coat back to the poor old feller."

FIRE BELL DONE
MARYSVILLE, Dec. 22.—After surmounting the city hall for about seventy years and sounding alarms during all that time, Marysville's old fire bell yesterday was removed together with the frame tower upon which it was suspended. A siren now replaces it.

A factory inscription on the relic shows that it was cast in Boston in 1854, the same year in which the city hall was constructed. The bell was shipped "around the horn."

The city council will provide a place for the exhibiting of the relic, probably in one of the public parks.

VOTE ELECTRICALLY.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—Assemblyman Homer Spence of Alameda is preparing to introduce a bill in the legislature providing for voting by electricity.

If the plan goes into effect, two buttons—one red and one blue—will be on each member's desk. To vote "no" the blue button is pressed and to vote "yes" the red is used. The vote is recorded and counted on the speaker's desk automatically.

The protest does not even assert the existence of any such evidence, much less offer to present it.

The whole thing is not worth the electricity it took to telegraph it over the country. (Copyright, 1922, All Western Syn.)

whereabouts and whether he had started for Los Angeles. Mrs. Leecraft was requested to go into the Atkinson apartments and see if Atkinson was there. A visit to the apartments revealed that Atkinson had packed up his effects and left.

Deserted Before, Claim
It also became known today that when Atkinson came to Santa Ana he came here from San Francisco under circumstances similar to those under which he departed from Santa Ana. He deserted Mrs. Atkinson in that city.

Despite the fact that Atkinson has made considerable money while in Santa Ana, it was said today that in the past few weeks he has approached friends for loans of money. He has not been considered a "high liver" or a spendthrift and his friends are mystified as to what he did with the large sums of money he is known to have made in his business operations in this city.

Many friends refused to believe today the story of his deserting his wife and leaving creditors behind. A man of charming personality, winning ways and keen business judgment, Atkinson had the respect and confidence of hundreds of men in the business community.

Last Wednesday he refused to permit his name to go before the members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club as a candidate for president, following his nomination by a nominating committee.

Statement Significant
At that time he said that plans he had made for the coming year would not permit of his performing the duties of president were he elected. In the light of today's developments, his statement had considerable significance.

Atkinson was the son of a wealthy man, and the only boy of a family consisting of himself and several sisters. He was left quite a fortune by his father, which, it is said, was dissipated by Atkinson in unsuccessful business ventures. Reared amid wealth, and the pet of proud parents and a family of girls, and always a money maker except in his own business adventures, it is believed that apparent reverses here were such that he could not bear to face the situation and that he decamped to avoid situations that he was certain would develop in time.

FOWLS FIND CORPSE.
SPARKS, Nev., Dec. 22.—Dead for three days, the body of William D. Waverly, a negro, 70 years old, was found by neighbors who were attracted to the cabin by a flock of hungry chickens around the door. Death is thought to have been due to natural causes.

Waverly formerly lived on the Bermuda Islands and a string of coral beads found around his neck is believed to indicate his affiliation with some negro society.

ta Ana, as well as in other sections of the county and state, but I do not think liquor is being handled here on a broad scale.

"I think probably the liquor that does reach Santa Ana is coming from outside sources—possibly from Los Angeles, Whittier and Newport.

Suspects Liquor Interests.
"We have reason to suspect a man living near Whittier, and it is also likely that San Diego liquor interests are working here. Federal officers stationed near San Juan Capistrano, however, make it hard for those handling Mexican liquor to operate here. As for Newport, Mexican fishing boats could, and do, do so, transfer wine and whiskey to small craft entering Orange county harbor. Some of this finds its way to this city.

"We will watch these avenues, and others, very closely for the next few weeks; and the ambitious bootlegger, coming to Santa Ana, will find that he has chosen the wrong field. It is our business to enforce the Wright act and we will do it."

ARRANGES OWN ARREST TO TEST WRIGHT ACT.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—Test of the Wright prohibition enforcement act started here today.

Frank Burk of San Francisco is the "victim" in the case which the "wet" interest, through Attorney William Hornblower, expect to carry to the highest courts in order to determine whether the law is valid.

Burk arranged his own arrest. He armed himself with a bottle of hundred proof liquor and took up a position at the corner of Montgomery and Clay streets. Pretty soon he saw Policeman Dick Skain walking down the street. So he pulled the bottle from his pocket and, as the officer arrived at his side, raised it to his lips and drank deeply.

Officer Skain "did his duty" and Burk was duly arrested and released on bail, which had been arranged previously.

the-last-minute-man's-gift-shop

Every Christmas lots of people have a real tough time to decide to take action on buying the man a gift. They know he's touchy about the things that adorn his figure and they want to give him something that he'll really LIKE, and will mean it when he SAYS so! Thus they wait until the last minute praying for inspiration—and a Spencer Collins!

We've got the following among the men who know how seriously we work to please them—now we want the confidence of feminine gift-buyers, especially. There isn't a thing in this store of doubtful style or quality—no stock was EVER selected more carefully. Last-minute shoppers are due for a great relief when their quest leads them here.

ANNOUNCE DROP IN PRICE FOR RADIUM

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 22.—Radium has dropped $50 a milligram, the Radium Company of Colorado announced today.
That would be $49,000,000 a ton, if radium came in tons.
But it doesn't.
The annual output of the company's three story laboratory here could be heaped on a nickel.
That much would be worth about $1,000,000.
The drop follows discovery of rich deposits in the Belgian Congo. The company has closed its Paradox valley mines and will buy from Belgium after January 1. Physicians have been paying $600 for half inch therapeutic needles containing a few specks of radium sulphate. The new price is $350.

TRAIN KILLS THREE TOTS.
ADA, O., Dec. 22.—Trapped between the crossing gates, three children were killed when the buggy in which they were riding was struck and demolished by a Pennsylvania train here yesterday.

LLOYD GEORGE IN SPAIN.
LONDON, Dec. 22.—Former Premier Lloyd George left yesterday for Algiers, the Spanish resort, for a rest. He will visit other resorts on the Italian and French Riviera.

CONVICTS OWN SON.
JERSEY CITY, Dec. 22.—John Sheffmeyer, policeman, took the witness stand in court here and gave testimony that resulted in conviction of his son, David, on a charge of stealing automobile tires.

NEWS BRIEFS

When Earl G. Sanbro, 21, of Santa Ana, and Lillian Devignon,
18, of Anaheim, yesterday entered their names in the marriage license book at the office of the county clerk at San Bernardino, it marked the beginning of Volume 28, and was 36 years after Gudmund Johnson, of Arrow, and Adella Gustafson, 23, of San Bernardino, took out their license, October 12, 1887, the year the new matrimonial registry system there was installed.

Building permits today totaled for the month 88 for $237,759, and for the year 1514 permits for $3-712,881, according to figures of W.
S. Decker, building inspector.

Invitations for the Merchants and Manufacturers' association annual banquet, to be held at St. Ann's inn January 9, were being mailed today. P. S. Lucas, secretary of the association, announced. The banquet date previously had been announced as Thursday evening, January 11, but this was an error, he said, as the annual affair always is held on a Tuesday. Several prominent men from out-of-town are expected to be in attendance.

Almost the full register of Masonic Scout Troup No. 10, together with a few of their pals, were today recalling the pleasure of last night's gathering at the log cabin on West Third street when a campfire was held following some intensive drilling under the direction of Scoutmaster "Leo" Leo (G. W.
Leo), and his assistant scoutmaster, C. A. Drake. One of the principal features of the business session was the presentation and acceptance of two gifts, a scout axe from Lamont McAdams and a blackboard from the Lions' club.

Don't cut down Christmas trees bordering the public highways, is the advice of Andrew Coffee, member of the Chamber of Commerce, who today asked that the Chamber post a notice offering $25 reward to anyone giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons guilty of this offense. Coffee declared that he had noticed instances of this kind this year, and he felt that attention of the public should be drawn to an offense punishable by law.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Zackary and family arrived in Santa Ana yesterday from Albera, Canada. They will spend the winter here and possibly make this their future home.
Mrs. Zackary is a sister of L. E.
Martin, local tire dealer.

The store at 821 East Fourth street has been sold by A. D.
Thompson to Della Lehman, according to a notice of sale on record today.

The Farmers' Exchange of Escondido will institute a five-day sale at that place beginning Tuesday, December 26, it was announced here today by J. F. Trimim, of Escondido, who will be the auctioneer. The sale will include citrus, dairy and chicken ranches and city property, the auctioneer said.

ALLEGED CHIEFS OF BANDIT GANG TAKEN

(United Press Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—Ten members of an alleged gang of bandits who terrorized the middle-west in a series of bank robberies and hold-ups which netted them more than $500,000 were rounded up in a raid by police here today.
More than 470,000 in Liberty bonds and other securities were recovered. A quantity of nitroglyc-erine, fuses and revolvers was also taken from the saloon in which the men were captured.

Police declared the ring leaders of the band were Thomas Holden,
John Barry and Harold Young.
They were rushed to headquarters for questioning.

2 TO BE ARRAIGNED IN SUPERIOR COURT

William Wilson, Orange, will be arraigned before Superior Judge
R. Y. Williams next Friday on serious charge, said to have grown out of an incident involving a girl at a dance at Olive recently. Information was filed against him today.

Zetta Vos Burgh, Newport, charged with uttering a worthless check, will be arraigned in the same department on the same day. An information was also filed against her today.

SEEKS ESTATE LETTERS
Vern C. Littleton today filed in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court a petition for letters of administration of the estate of the late A. P. Littleton. The estate consists of $1000 in war savings stamps, it was declared.

CHILD MONARCH AT YULETIDE SAYS PASTOR

"Standing in the presence of the child, we feel the glow of another world, and the touch of baby fingers calls forth all that is tenderest, purest, and noblest in human nature," the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, told The Register's big radio family in a Christmas talk broadcasted by KFAW last night.

"This is the happy Christmas season," said the Rev. Mr. Porter, "and the child is king. The Babe of Bethlehem has converted the cradle into a throne. No monarch of earth holds such undisputed away over his subjects as the little sovereign of the home. The curly head wears the crown, tiny hands bear the scepter."

"It is a long time, my friends, from manhood's prime, with its care and responsibilities, to those opening days of life, when Santa Claus was a reality, and we dwell in the fair land of imagination.
Well it is for us that the Christmas time should revive these memories, otherwise we might become cold and hard, and loveless."

Christianity must always remain young, the pastor said, because it has the child at its very heart.
Other features of the program included a dainty talk to the young folks by Santa Claus himself, and the latest phonographic records furnished by Carl G.
Strook.

NEW TRIAL ASKED IN GIRL ASSAULT CASE

Asserting that the jury decided the case on evidence not introduced in court, and that new evidence had been obtained, attorneys for Jake Harris, convicted of attempted assault on a 14-year-old Orange girl, today filed a motion for a new trial.

Superior Judge Z. B. West, before whom Harris was to come for sentence, set January 2, at 9:30 a. m., as the time for argument on the motion.

In addition to the two preceding reasons for a new trial, Attorneys C. A. Payne and Morris Cain alleged that the court misdirected the jury, and that the decision was contrary to the evidence.

Harris, whose smile was evident throughout the trial and even when the verdict of guilty was returned, was pensive today, and scarcely raised his eyes. Not a smile appeared on his face throughout the proceedings.

CONDITION OF FILM STAR CAUSES WORRY

(United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—The condition of Wally Reid, film star, was reported slightly worse this morning.

"His condition is not so favorable as a days ago," his physicians declared. "He spent an in-different twenty-four hours, and the dysentery from which he suffers has increased to some extent, and he is weaker. His pulse has increased to 104, although his temperature is normal."

Reid's condition, however, is not causing undue worry, Mrs. Dorothy Davenport Reid, his wife, declared this morning. While a setback of this sort would have been exceedingly grave last week, he has recovered enough strength in the past seven days to make them feel much easier over the danger of a relapse.

SOCIETY

Sunday School Classes Unite In Gay Party

With the Pollyanna girls of the United Brethren Sunday school sharing their "be glad" policies with the Philathea girls, a merry Christmas party resulted last night at the home of one of the teachers, Mrs. Frank Freeman, 1508 West First street.

Christmas trees and an abundance of California holly lent a gay holiday atmosphere to the scene and an expression of the Yuletide season was found in the unique way in which the guests exchanged pretty remembrances with which the tree was laden.

A series of exciting games added interest to the evening which ended with the delicious refreshments enjoyed by class members and their honor guests who were the Rev. Jerome L. Parks and Mrs. Parks and Mr. Freeman. Others present included the hostess, Mrs. Freeman, and her two little daughters, Sarah and Margaret, and the Misses Frances Simmons, Pearl Reed, Fern Thompson, Geraldine Roy, Velda Davis, Catherine Lacy, Loris Jones, Velma Hadley, Mary Coulter, Rosella Deisher, Lillian Schorle, Rowena Cone, Ruth Crosby and Minerva Carpenter.

Romantic Wedding At Holiday Time

Attending strictly to his duties at Fourth and Main streets, Robert Elliott, member of the city constabulary, was today receiving congratulations from the friends who were aware of his romantic marriage to Mrs. Bessie Githens which occurred last night at midnight.

The marriage ceremony uniting the young couple was performed by Judge W. F. Hestman at the city hall and came as a complete surprise to their relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott are domiciled at the Golden West apartments for the present.

Christmas Program

The small people of the Congregational church are all tip-toe with expectancy today, barely able to conceal their impatience at the slowness of time, for tonight at 7:30 they will have a program at the church, a Christmas tree and a visit from Santa Claus—is it any wonder time drags for them? The program to be enjoyed by all the church congregation and friends will be given entirely by the beginners; primary and junior departments and will offer songs, recitations and choruses. It will close with the visit of the jolly Saint Nicholas who will distribute candy gifts from the brilliantly decorated tree.

Will Locate Here

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Partridge are entertaining at their home on East Fairhaven avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Workman, D. C. Ph. C., and their son Maynard Workman, who have just returned from the east. The Workmans formerly lived in Southern California and declare that in all their travels over the United States, they have failed to find a city the size of Santa Ana which can compare with it in progress and development.

That fact has influenced them to locate in this city and they plan to open a chiropractic office and establish themselves here in the immediate future.

A lump of sugar soaked in vinegar will stop most cases of hicoughs.

"Merry Christmas"

It will not be such a merry Christmas after all, though, if I am left in Toyland instead of being given to some dear little girl who loves to sew. You just can't imagine how I wonder why I was never given any clothes! I get so cold and am really unhappy over it, despite my cheerful, roguish smile. Maybe that's why my one and only Christmas wish is that I will be left in the stocking of the little girl that can sew. I know she will make me pretty whatchamacalls, gay dresses with fancy sashes, shiny silk stockings and a great, big moving picture hat!

Personals

John Huchins, son-in-law of Mrs. W. K. Robinson, 220 South Sycamore street, arrived today from Berkeley and may decide to take up a permanent residence. Mrs. Huchins will join him later, if he decides to accept a position tendered him.

Kenneth Granger and Sherman Jubb, employees of the post office at Howell, Michigan, visited Thursday at the Archie Garton home, 820 West Third street. The boys came through by automobile, leaving Michigan November 17. They declare the Santa Ana auto camp to be the best they have found on their trip.

Among college girls home for the holidays is Miss Dorothy Smith who arrived from Pomona college Tuesday, and is at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. McVicker Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips are enjoying a holiday visit from Mr. Phillips' sister, Miss Ethel Phillips of the Cummock School of Expression, Los Angeles.

Mrs. L. L. Robinson, Mills Court, took her departure today for Fresno where, arriving in time to enjoy Christmas with the family of her son, F. E. Robinson, she will spend the winter. F. E. Robinson is an electrician formerly connected with the local theaters.

Among Berkeley students in Santa Ana for Christmas is Miss Grace Dickey, who is the guest of her brother and family, Leon Dickey of South Birch street.

Mrs. W. H. McMahon of Reno, Nevada, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. S. W. Littrell, 602 Orange avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Albee, of Tustin, are happy in the presence of Mr. Albee's sister, Mrs. J. K. Bennett, of Buffalo, New York, who has arrived to spend the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Martin journeyed to Los Angeles yesterday with a load of Christmas cheer from the Spurgeon Memorial church, in the way of oranges, nuts and clothing for the needy ones of the Homer Toberman mission there.

MORE CHINA TRADE DOLLARS DISPLAYED

Chinese trade dollars are not as rare in Santa Ana as was at first believed, it was revealed today when additional specimens of the curious coins were displayed here. A. L. Palmer, 505 Grand avenue, a commercial traveler, displayed not only a Chinese trade dollar, but also a Hawaiian dollar, bearing an 1883 date; a British five-shilling piece, minted in 1891, and an "Oom Paul" two-and-a-half shilling piece minted in South Africa in 1895.

Another Chinese trade dollar has been brought to public notice by William Ellison, farmer of Costa Mesa, who began collecting coins in 1898 at the time of his enlistment in the army for the Spanish-American war and who was disabled within two months of his discharge following the Boxer rebellion.

Ellison said he obtained several Chinese trade dollars in China. Dr. H. E. W. Barnes and C. E. Callahan, cafe man here, recently announced their possession of similar Chinese trade dollars. The coins gain their value from the fact that 20,000 were minted for trade in China but were quickly withdrawn from circulation.

Ellison also possesses a full coinage of the Philippine Islands from one-half cent to the peso. He has an American 2-cent piece that he picked up in the streets of Hongkong, China, in 1901. Another is a Spanish coin, said to have circulated in Mexico, of 1808; an 1833 American dime; California gold coins of denomination smaller than the dollar; gold dollar of 1832 stamped with head of Ulysses Grant; Russian one and ten kopek pieces; American penny of 1839, and other strange, or rare coins gathered in his travels.

COLLIE PUP PLAYS PIANO

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—After his stature and a story about him were printed here today it was generally agreed that "Lucky," a collie pup owned by Miss Regina Kelly of Brooklyn, is some dog. Here are some of his accomplishments:

Eats English walnuts, gives three cheers for Ireland, plays the piano, says his prayers every night and washes his dishes.

BOYS HELD FOR WRECK

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Dec. 22.—Police today were holding two 19-year-old boys, said to have confessed to wrecking Burlington passenger train No. 16 from St. Joseph to St. Louis Tuesday night, endangering the lives of more than a hundred passengers.

RUM SHIPS SEIZED

BAN MOVIE PICTURES OF CLARA'S ESCAPE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—There is no objection to showing Fatty Arbuckle's future comedies in Los Angeles, but Mayor Croyer simply will not stand for the showing of a picture showing how Clara Phillips escaped from the Los Angeles county jail.

Mayor Croyer withdrew a permit to show the picture today, fearing that the same with which the young woman taking the part of Clara made her "get away" would have a bad influence on the town's potential prisoners.

Young oysters enjoy 48 hours' life as moving creatures, then settle down for life.

James—Noonday Lunches.

Dad used to tell us the story about the old time store keeper and the Christmas candy. The young folks were out for a Thanksgiving party and wanted some sweets. They drove past the corner store and here in the old dingy four-glass window was displayed the fancy Christmas candies, bright candy canes, stick candies, gumdrops, licorice, etc. The boys went to buy some of the candy. The old store keeper said he could not let them have any then. He wanted to save it for the Christmas trade. Well it seems that some of the firms we bought of did the same thing. They kept the goods until so near Christmas that it almost did get here. Candy and bon bon jars, cracker jars, fruit compotes, and other fancy glass. Mirrors also came late and are enjoying prices dangerously near cost. Cytherea perfume lamps, vases, sewing baskets, are all late and good to look at. Novelty bead necklaces, the finest line in the city at 20 per cent off. Bookends from $3.00 up. Candles.

THE SOCIAL MIRROR

Gayety, Song, Romance Enjoyed at Inn on Rotary Program

Santa Ana Rotarians were last night the guests of their wives at a Christmas dinner at St. Ann's Inn, where the red and green of Christmas holly, the music and royal good cheer made the occasion a particularly happy one.

As each Rotary wife introduced herself and her dinner partner she presented him with a gaily ribboned Christmas gift, humorously appropriate or ludicrously inappropriate, and many clever rhymes accompanied the gifts, proving that verse-making, blank or otherwise, is talent that thrives healthily in a Rotary atmosphere.

A clever talk upon "The Rotary Principle, as Applied in the Home," was given by Mrs. O. M. Robbins, who, to the accompaniment of a constant ripple of laughter from her audience, discoursed humorously upon the great advantages enjoyed by the modern home-maker with her rotary egg-beaters, rotary sweeping devices and rotary washing machines, and most important of all Rotary husbands.

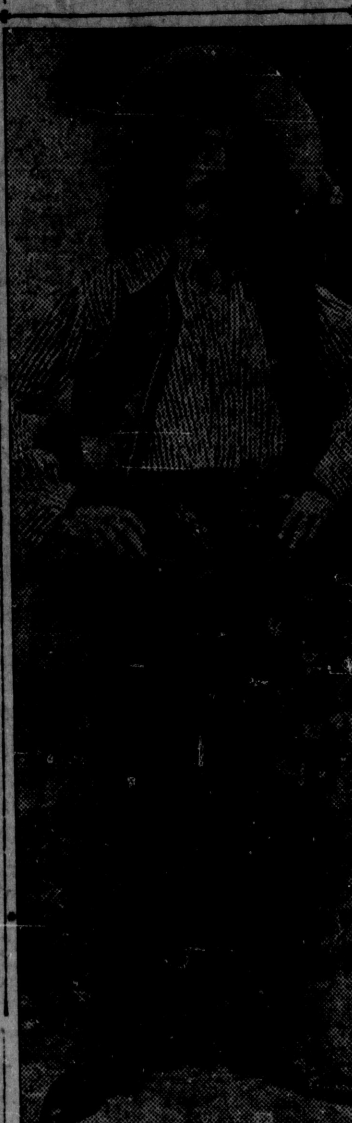

A "Craft Talk" by Mrs. Terry Stephenson emphasized the importance of house-wifery as a craft, with the declaration that it was the most ancient and honorable of all feminine crafts, and enrolled among its members the world's most noted women—a craft celebrated in song and story, from Eve's day until now.

Mrs. June Hamilton Rhodes had charge of the musical program, and several numbers were presented by the members of the cast of "The Bohemian Girl," which will be presented by the Choral union in January. Mrs. G. J. Daley, Maurice Phillips, Robert Brown, Miss Peggy Warner and Raymond Miles were the singers and the taste they offered of the coming year whetted the appetites of the audience for "more."

Duets by Mrs. Daley and Robert Brown; a quartette number, and solos by each of the four were warmly cheered by the appreciative diners. The famous old songs, "Then You'll Remember Me," sung by Raymond Miles, and "Oh, Heart Bowed Down," by Maurice Phillips were delightfully sung and Miss Ruth Armstrong at the piano added much to the success of the numbers. A pleasant dance, in costume by Mrs. Warren Fletcher and Paul G. Gonzalez, members of the cast, was delightful.

Mrs. Jack Hayden, wife of the Rotary president, presided with a firm gavel and a happy humor and charm over the meeting, and introduced the program.

Santa Ana Singer Aids In Christmas Plays At Whittier

Happy memories of the welcome accorded her at Whittier were Hazel Lander Hummel's today following her return to her former home last night to assist by her singing, in the program at Whittier college. The dramatic class of the college presented three one-act plays as a Christmas offering and Mrs. Hummel, a favorite in "Ye Friendly Town" where she was soloist at the First Friends church for several years was asked to present groups of song between acts.

Ethel Troxell Thompson acted as her accompanist and Mrs. Maude Lash was also in the party motor- ing over from this city to dine with members of the cast prior to the performance.

Mrs. Hummel sang three groups of song, the first one offering "Waltz Song" by Harriet Ware, "Swiss Echo Song" by Eckert and "Pale Moon" by Logan. The second group comprised "Villanelle" by Dell Acqua, "An Irish Mother's Lullaby" by Lang and Nevins' "Blessed Damsel," while in the final group the vocalist gave a selection of Indian compositions by Charles Wakefield Cadman, "The Land of the Sky-blue Water," "The White Dawn Is Stealing" and "The Moon Drops Low."

Gifts and Song Add Pleasure to Happy Christmas Party

By special arrangement with the young ladies of the Title and Abstract office, genial Saint Nicholas paused in his busy round of activities long enough to drop in and leave a number of attractive gifts for the girls, assembled last night for a Christmas party at the home of Miss Dorothy Clem, 1068 West Third street.

Masses of holly in clusters and wreaths added a holiday air to the gathering and the earlier part of the evening was spent around the piano, where to accompaniment played by Miss Evelyn Johnson, all joined in singing popular songs and Christmas carols.

Later Miss Clem ushered the guests to the dining room, where each found her place at the attractively garlanded table by means of a clever little Christmas card. A gay tree centered the table while amusing snap mottos at each place yielded quaint little caps which each one donned and wore for the remainder of the evening.

The delicious three-course supper was served by Miss Clem, with the assistance of her mother, Mrs. Cary Clem, and the Misses Helen Kemmer and Blanche Lansing. It was followed by the gift distribution in which each girl was numbered and drew a corresponding number. The gifts had been prepared by each member of the office staff contributing one article.

Enjoying the happy evening were the entertaining hostess, Miss Clem, her mother, Mrs. Cary Clem; and the Misses Dora Lambert, May Beamer, Lorraine French, Carolyn Stuck, Emma Franzen, Evelyn Johnson, Blanche Lansing, Dorothy Whipple, Helen Kemmer and Ruth O'Connor.

Dinner Party Honors Michigan Visitor Here for Winter

One of the social events of the pre-holiday season enjoyed by a little group of friends was that of Tuesday night when Mrs. Lu Ella Greene, 441 South Birch street honored her mother, Mrs. Alberta Warner of Howell, Michigan, with a dinner party.

Mrs. Greene used the Christmas motif in her decorations and the table where the guests enjoyed a delicious 6 o'clock dinner, was charming in its Christmas color scheme.

Covers were placed for the honor guest, Mrs. Warner and the hostess, Mrs. Greene, Mrs. Carlsberg, Miss Millie Carlsberg, Miss Inez Carlsberg, Mrs. L. E. Lauderbach, Mrs. L. W. Lauderbach, Mrs. Maria Gorton and Mrs. Archie Gorton.

C. OF C. WILL ISSUE AUTO CAMP NOTES

"Invest in auto camp notes," is the plea of the January issue of Community Service, official organ of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, which came off the press today.

"We propose to issue 200 notes for $100 each," declares an article on the auto camp finances written by Charles F. Smith, member of the board of directors of the Chamber.

Money obtained from the sale of notes, the article says, will be used to cover notes on the auto camp held by various banks, to build new cabins at the grounds, and to put the park in the clear for the present.

"The investment is profitable," continues Smith's plea, "and with no increase over present revenue the park should net at least $1500 a year above running expenses, ordinary upkeep and 6 per cent interest on the investment."

LOWELL SCHOOL NOW READY; 265 PUPILS ARE ENROLLED

The Lowell grammar school building, just completed on South Flower street, was accepted by the board of education after inspection, it was announced today.

School work will begin there January 2, 1924, with an enrollment of 265 pupils.

Miss Mildred Mead is principal of the school.

Construction of the Lowell school began last July. The cost was approximately $53,000 on one contract.

Pupils of the Lowell school have been attending half-day sessions at the McKinley grammar school.

Even when in their own school building, it will be necessary for a kindergarten class to occupy the auditorium stage, it was said, due to the large enrollment.

All grammar schools in Santa Ana, however, are pressed for space properly to accommodate the growing school enrollment, and relief can only be temporary until the still other new buildings have been erected by use of the money voted at the recent school board election, in the opinion of the board of education.

One other grammar school building is about complete, the new Washington school. According to indications, it will be ready for occupancy at the opening of the new school year, January 2.

S. A. GETS 187 BAGS OF YULE MAIL IN DAY

Two truckloads of packages and 187 sacks of mail arrived at the post office today, making the biggest day here this Christmas season or of any previous year, L. F. Harvey, superintendent of mails, declared between "throwing letters," distributing packages and supervising the conduct of his department.

Sacks of mail cluttered the post office floor apparently without system. Clerks worked feverishly sorting letters before the various cases. The big State rack, containing outgoing packages, was jammed tight, while sack after sack of "hand-packed" mail matter was rushed to the waiting trucks.

Carriers sat at route tables, which were piled high with letters, while mountains of packages grew and were torn down and grew again on the floor at their feet.

Emergency Clerks Busy
Emergency clerks, hired for the Christmas season, were being shifted from one table to another by Superintendent Harvey in his efforts to avoid entanglement of the mail system.

Four clerks were distributing letters to the carrier tables. "Throwing letters," they call their job. The work began at 2:30 o'clock this morning and late today was still in progress. The cancelling machine, which handles only outgoing letters of ordinary size, registered 36,210 letters yesterday. This figure is 10,000 over the record of last year, most intriguing!

and 7000 over the record established last week.

Two clerks worked on the outgoing letter case yesterday from early morning until eight o'clock last night.

Stamp Sales Drop

Stamp sales yesterday dropped to $705, according to C. D. Over-shiner, postmaster. The line of shippers anxious to get letters and packages to out-of-town friends had ended today and the window clerks were allowed a breathing space.

"Taken all in all," Harvey said, "the Christmas mail is going through in splendid style. Few instances of carelessness on the part of the shipper of mail have occurred."

"One postcard in the office today from Long Beach is addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Smith. I am afraid we will not be able to deliver that before Christmas."

"One package addressed to two girls at Madison, Wis., has been returned to the office here due to a mistake on the part of the shipper in marking her return address where the forwarding address should be. It is too bad, but such things will happen if the shipper does not pay proper attention to these details at Christmas time."

WOMAN SAVES PURSE BY KIDDING BANDIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Barbara Nachtlied Grimes of the University of California faculty, met a man on Market street who demanded her purse at the point of a gun.

"How romantic," she exclaimed. "I've often wondered how it felt to be held up. Go right on. It's 000 over the record of last year, most intriguing!"

SANTA ANA PREPARES TO CELEBRATE CHRISTMAS

SANTA REVEALS YULE WISHES WRITTEN 27 YEARS AGO

Paper Gives Childhood Requests of Many Prominent County Folk DROPS OLD LETTERS

Willard Smith and Garland C. Ross On Kriss Kringle's List

BY TOM LEWIS.

Good old Kriss Kringle, rushing pell-mell through the streets of Santa Ana, dropped a yellowed leaf from his Great Book of Records. Careless? Well, not exactly. You see, Santa was in a terrible hurry. Just then a noisy reporter, snooping around in quest of news, happened along. The reporter gathered up the evidence. It was a copy of The Orange County Herald, this leaf that Kriss Kringle dropped, and it was twenty-seven years old. The date was December 21, 1895.

Friendly With Editor. Now Santa, it seems, was mighty friendly with the editor of The Orange County Herald. In fact they were so chummy that the editor opened quite a lot of Kriss Kringle's mail.

And what do you suppose the letters contained? They contained requests, for one thing, and the names and addresses of some mighty fine boys and girls.

They wanted Santa Claus to be sure and remember them, these boys and girls of yesterday, and they were not a bit backward about expressing their wishes. What did the boys and girls want a quarter of a century ago? Well, let's see what they said in their letters to Santa Claus.

Willard Smith's Letter. Willard Smith—you know the genial Willard of Villa Park? Well, Willard wanted—but here's his letter. Let him tell it himself: "Villa Park, December 16, 1895. Mr. Santa Claus: Please come to Villa Park, if you have any presents."

Here is What Children of Today Want as Yule Gifts

"We know what the boys and girls of yesteryear wanted Santa Claus to bring them," said the city editor to the reporter. "Not go out and learn from the kids on the street, what the boys and girls of today would like to have. Maybe the times have changed. Ask the kids."

The reporter bore little resemblance to old St. Nicholas. He had no reindeer, he was slim rather than fat and what few whiskers he could boast were black rather than snow white.

And despite the fact that only a span of a few years separated him from a working acquaintance with the jolly old fellow, he felt not a little uneasy for fear the real Santa Claus might put in an appearance when a nondescript trio, which he had halted at the corner of Main and Fifth streets, began to ply him with questions after he had sought to learn their most desired Christmas gift.

"I want a bicycle worst of all," the "Penrod" with the multi-colored sweater admitted, "but, Mister, I wish you would have a big motorcycle seat put on it, will you?"

"I guess I'll have a radio set," the largest of the "bunch" averred.

"Oh, boy!" the youth with the painter's white cap declared, "you'll have a thunder of a time getting one of them fixed up. My brother did."

The reporter guiltily moved away.

"I think he is Santa Claus's helper," the "Penrod" exclaimed. Here's what the little people want:

Dorothy Beals, 1016 French street, silk dress.

Bernard Weber, 1801 Greenleaf street, air rifle.

Dorothy Holmes, 1408 North Main street, vanity bag.

Ray Jackson, 126 West Seventeenth street, bicycle.

2400 KIDDIES EXPECTED AT ELKS' TREE

Punch and Judy and Santa Himself On Hand at 1:30 p. m. Tomorrow

Punch and Judy and Santa Claus will officiate at the Elks' Christmas tree party for 2400 children, under 12 years old, at Birch park tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, according to W. W. Wasser, secretary of the Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E.

"The performance will begin promptly at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon," said Wasser, "and there will be time only for one performance. We want all the children to come early."

"There will be a lot to do. C. L. Beck, one of our real big Elks, personally promises to bring Santa Claus to Birch park tomorrow afternoon."

Candy Gifts Ready. "Santa Claus will give a bag of candy and a toy to every child present. We expect 2400 children under 12 years old to be there."

"The Christmas tree will be decorated with all the things that children love to see hanging from the fragrant boughs of the fir at Christmas time."

"Punch and Judy, of course, need no introduction, though perhaps the querulous couple are not as well known as Santa Claus."

"No child could help but love Punch despite his comically enormous nose, and pompous ways."

"Judy loves him too, though she admits that Punch might develop better manners and not talk so loud."

"With Santa Claus distributing presents, Punch and Judy adding to the entertainment, the Elks feel that their guests, the children, will have a merry time tomorrow afternoon."

"We hope they will come early so as not to miss any of the fun."

ROAST PORK WILL BE PIECE DE RESISTANCE ON PRISONERS' MENU

If you are not sure where you are going to get your Christmas dinner, try throwing a brick through a plate glass window.

This little indiscretion will probably land you in jail and procure for you a sumptuous holiday feast of roast pork, apple sauce, sweet potatoes, celery, sweet corn, coffee and pie.

For this is the menu as outlined at Jailer Theo. Lacy's establishment. Chef W. F. Ford and his assistant, F. Pinerio, were today rolling up their sleeves in preparation for the task, while at least 160 other inmates were smacking their lips in pleasurable anticipation.

Ford gained a reputation at Thanksgiving when he prepared a feast for the other prisoners.

SUSPEND SENTENCE OF MAN NABBED IN RAID

Jack Beardsley, arrested in the raid on an apartment house here last Saturday night, was today under suspended sentence of 30 days, imposed by Justice J. B. Cox, before whom the defendant pleaded guilty to vagrancy charges.

Beardsley was said to have been in the apartments when the police and district attorney's men reached the place.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE AS HIS PENALTY IN 'LOVE-THEFT' CASE

MRS. LOTTIE CLARK AND GEORGE O. BAKER

OAKLAND, Cal., Dec. 19.—Into the code of unwritten law George Baker has inserted a decision.

It concerns the penalty that should be meted out to the "love thief," the home-wrecker.

A much disputed question, this; one that men have tried to answer within and without the law.

Baker dramatically placed himself on trial made himself judge, jury and accused, and finally reached a verdict. It was the death penalty.

Such is the astounding sequel to a triangle that involved Mrs. Lottie B. Clark, her husband, Leo Clark, and "a man named Baker."

Naming "a man named Baker" as correspondent, Clark divorced his wife at Fresno. That was the only identification Clark or the world had for "the other man."

The sequel moved to an apartment house here where Mrs. Clark came after the separation. Finally, it found Baker, revolver in hand, sending a bullet through his head.

But first, Baker had penned a decision in the case of Baker the love thief vs. Baker the Man. Baker the Man had won—and to all men and women, he left a warning and a sermon. Here, as he penned it, was Baker's self-imposed death sentence:

"The man who steals another man's wife is the greatest thief of all. He must pay. I am the 'man named Baker' and I have decided to pay in full. Will someone please tell Mr. Clark I am sorry for any pain I have caused him. I loved well but foolishly. What more can one in my position say? It all comes down to this: We who cheat someone else must pay. I am glad to pay."

Baker has a chance to survive his self-inflicted penalty. But if he does recover, he will be blind—the fates or a higher tribunal commuting his own death sentence to life suffering.

YULE FESTIVAL OF SONG PLAN SUNDAY EVE

Just as the sun goes down Sunday night, Christmas eve, Santa Ana lovers of music will gather at Birch park to hear the program to be given by the Santa Ana Musical association. The first number will be given at 5 o'clock. Madame Constance Balfour of Los Angeles has been chosen soloist of the occasion.

All church choirs of the city have been invited to join in singing the songs and chants sacred to the Christmas season, which Moffett Rhodes, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church, will pronounce the benediction.

Offers Three Songs. Madame Balfour is expected to offer three numbers at intervals on the program, "Cantique de Noel," by Adam; "Glory to God," by Rotoli, and "Ring the Bells of Christmas Morning," by Teresa Del Rio.

Thousands of Santa Ana folk are expected to attend the Christmas festival of song, and to witness the lighting of the big Christmas tree which will furnish the illumination of the park during the program.

The Christmas message will be delivered by the Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church, while the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church, will pronounce the benediction.

Other Soloists. Soloists include Robert Brown in "Holy Night! Peaceful Night!" "Draw Nigh, Immanuel," and "Little Town of Bethlehem." Robert Brown, Raymond Miles and Maurice Phillips will lead the choruses of "The First Noel" and "We, Three Kings of Orient Are."

"Joy to the World," by the community chorus, will open the program following an orchestral selection. The Rev. Will A. Betts, pastor of the First Methodist church, will offer the invocation.

OPEN ROAD BETWEEN CAPISTRANO, SERRA

Santa Ana and Orange county motorists planning a week-end trip to San Diego were rejoicing today as a result of the announcement that they will not be obliged to detour at San Juan Capistrano, but may continue along the state highway to Serra.

According to information received here this decision was made at a meeting of members of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce with Engineer Patch of the state highway commission, who agreed to open the section of road between Serra and San Juan Capistrano now being repaired.

Elimination of this detour, which has caused trouble for motorists for several weeks, was expected to increase motor traffic to the southern city this week.

WAS LATE JUST ONCE. DOVER, Ohio, Dec. 22.—J. J. Coen, 69, retired as an employee of the Pennsylvania shops after 43 years of service, during which time he was late to work but once. That was when he punctured his bicycle tire.

SONG AND STORY IN S. A. WILL COMMEMORATE BIRTH OF SAVIOR AT BETHLEHEM

BY FRANK DOWSETT

Joyously, yet reverently Santa Ana has prepared to celebrate Christmas Day.

Joyously because it is the season of "peace and good will toward all men;" reverently because it is the anniversary of His birth. Churches will echo their salvation in hymn and prayer; men will forget their cares in the peaceful joy of giving.

With characteristic magnanimity Santa Ana has helped to spread the Christmas spirit into the four corners of the earth, and will as generously look to the comfort of those at home.

This city never has failed to answer the call of the Red Cross or any organization working towards relieving want in the world. At this Christmas time many a child and woman, perhaps even men, will be whispering thanks to a Santa Ana for an unexpected repast and message of cheer.

When the Salvation Army Christmas kettles are emptied—but, like the widow's cruse, they are never empty—they are like the hearts of Santa Anas that give always yet as much still remains to be given.

Everywhere and in every way there is the spirit, quite often a sacrifice, of giving that others may be happy; and the greater the sacrifice, the happier the giver.

So Santa Ana is happy as it sacrifices a little from many tables to give to children, perhaps poor, perhaps alone in the world so early in life, perhaps without home, love or any of the things that a child craves at this Yuletide season.

The Elks, Kiwanians, Rotarians, Lions, as clubs and as hearty men, will join in the warm search for those who otherwise might be forgotten Christmas day. The Elks club and all other women's clubs have prepared their baskets or packages to carry unostentatiously to some home where the women know what is apt to hover.

To Visit Hospitals. They will visit the hospitals—the Orange county hospital and the Community hospital—just to say Merry Christmas and to make sure that the spirit of the season has not been lost in some recent fight for life, or obstinate illness. They will see the love and devotion of the nurses, which is the daily spirit of the hospitals, and the patient cheerfulness imbued, Christmas will enter the Orange county juvenile home.

Christmas trees, the universal symbol, already have been erected in all these places. A small Christmas tree even glows in the child's reading room of the public library, while red streamers and Christmas bells float overhead. There are Christmas trees and presents galore at the hospitals, the detention home—and perhaps even in the county jail. Christmas walks into every place with a benefit fund.

The Georgia minstrels booked for Yost's theater Monday afternoon and evening will give a thirty-minute turn on the morning program at the Temple, by permission of E. D. Yost, manager of the theater.

On the program also are: Miss Peggy Warner, vocal solo; Ruth Armstrong, accompanist; Miss Carrie Seaton, organ selections; Lizetta Phillips and Merle G. Ramsey, xylophone selections; Hazel Landers Hummel, vocal selection; Ethel Thompson, accompanist; Loren Cannon and Jack Langley, violin selections, Miss Seaton, accompanist.

EXPECT THROG AT YULETIDE BENEFIT

Men of Santa Ana are invited by the Men's Community Bible class to attend the Christmas benefit entertainment to be given Christmas morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Temple theater, according to W. B. Martin, president of the class. No admission will be charged, but a collection will be taken for the benefit of the fund of the class used in relieving the distress of the destitute, it was announced.

Some of the most notable musical talent of Orange county is expected to appear at the performance. Each artist will give time and talent as his gift to the benefit fund.

The Georgia minstrels booked for Yost's theater Monday afternoon and evening will give a thirty-minute turn on the morning program at the Temple, by permission of E. D. Yost, manager of the theater.

S. A. CHURCHES PREPARE YULE SERVICES

BY ELEANOR ELLIOTT.

"There's a song in the sky. There's a star in the sky."

So opens one of the most tenderly beautiful of all the Christmas melodies, one that touches the heart of everyone at the Yuletide because of its simplicity, its tenderness and its truthfulness.

For the air is full of song at Christmas. Waits and carols have come down through the ages since the holly and mistletoe of the ancient druidical worship of England was supplanted by the worship of that little Child born in an humble manger in Bethlehem under the light of the Christmas star.

In harmony with the season, the air will be full of song in Santa Ana not only at the morning church service hour on Sunday but at the evening hour, at the Community Christmas tree and again at early morning service on Christmas day itself.

In celebration of the most wonderful day in the history of the church, creeds and dogmas are forgotten and worship by song wells from the hearts of a united Christianity, offering homage "to Him who so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believed in Him should not perish but should have everlasting life."

To Present Cantata. Among the churches to have special song service at the morning hour will be the United Presbyterian, where the cantata, "Star of Bethlehem," by Barker, will be presented with Harry Warner at the organ. Warner will offer an arrangement of a number of carols as an organ prelude to the cantata, which will be sung by the quartette composed of Miss Ruth Frothingham, Miss Mary Henderson, Chalton Waters and M. K. Beatty. In the evening Miss Henderson will give the solo number, "The Glory of the Lord," by Vauze, and two anthems will add to the pleasure of the congregation gathered to hear the Christmas message delivered by the Rev. J. G. Kennedy.

Regular services will be observed at St. Joseph's Catholic church Sunday while Christmas morning will be marked by a beautiful and impressive 5 o'clock mass directed by the organist, Mrs. Albert M. Wilson. The complete program will present the precessional,

Stocks, Markets and Financial News

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

Buoyancy Shows In Most Stocks as Christmas Spirit Rules

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Again the stock market today had more of the Christmas spirit than has been seen in recent years. Buoyancy reigned throughout most of the session and even the wave of profit taking in the afternoon failed to bring the speculative leaders down substantially from the new highs established on the current recovery.

Demonstrations of strength were staged in a long list of representative industries, including the equipments, Studebaker, Corden California Petroleum and Tobacco Products. Rails, too, participated in the bullish enthusiasm, standard issues reaching new highs on the present move despite heavy selling of Delaware and Hudson on its unfavorable dividend outlook.

Although the prospect of a three day suspension of trading furnished a strong incentive for traders to withdraw from the market before the close, the general market maintained a strong tone in the final dealings. Baldwin, Steel and several other industrials prominent in the morning were reactionary but the market as a whole held well and Studebaker scored a sensational rise to above 139 in the last hour.

The market closed higher. Closing prices included:

U. S. Steel 106 1/2; Bethlehem B. S. 24 1/2; American Locomotive 125 1/2; up 1 1/4; Pan American 34, up 1 1/4; Texas Company 47 1/4; Calif. REUBEN B. ALLEN, FORTUNE IS YOURS

If Reuben B. Allen, 55, is in Santa Ana, he should write to the chief of police at Alliance, O. A fortune awaits him there. According to information received by the police department here today, Allen is being sought because he is heir to a fortune left by a relative in Alliance. The chief of police there asked the aid of the police and newspapers throughout the country in locating the missing man.

WERE WELL ARMED
LONG BEACH, Dec. 22.—Armed with four pistols, two guns, three masks and a large quantity of ammunition, two suspects giving the names of Carmine Biocca and Gordon Patterson were arrested by police here last night in the residential section. All the firearms were fully loaded. The men were driving a car bearing California license 749,259.

OBJECT TO GYPSIES
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Residents of Glendale Park today petitioned the city council to take action against the band of Gypsies now camped along the San Fernando road. They are declared to be "an undesirable foreign element."

TRADING IS ACTIVE ON L. A. MARKETS

(United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Trading today continued active in nearly all lines. While supplies are liberal there were no large holdings in weak hands and the market ranged from steady to firm. Peas recovered slightly from yesterday's depression and good beans are scarce. Best cranberries are generally cleaning up, although some poor stock was selling at a heavy discount.

Tomatoes are weaker under liberal receipts of poor quality stock. Sample vegetables are in fair demand at unchanged levels. Tomatoes, local 125@140. Balance unchanged from yesterday.

Note:—Department of agriculture will issue no market reports until Tuesday.

SHIPS COLLIDE AT SOUTHAMPTON

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Dec. 22.—The White Star liner Majestic docking in a terrific gale today, crashed with the Cunard liner Berengaria.

The Cunard's taff rail was splintered in the collision. The Majestic dragged her anchors.

The Majestic is the largest passenger-carrying vessel afloat. It is of 56,551 tons. It was built at Hamburg by the Germans during the war and was named the Bismarck.

GRAND JURY PLANS PARLEY ON TUESDAY

A general conference of all committees of the grand jury will be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday, it was announced today.

Meanwhile, it was expected that the committees would be more or less inactive over the Christmas holiday. Although no official record will be declared, it was understood that investigations will be suspended for the two days until that time.

At the conference Tuesday, a general discussion of problems will take place, it was expected.

LIVE TURKEYS DROP ON S. F. MARKETS

(United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—An easy to weak tone existed on the turkey market. There was not an oversupply of fancy turkeys, but medium grades are flooding the market and are not in active demand. A few sales of very fancy turkeys sold at 37 and 38 cents per pound but most sales ranged from 35 to 36 cents per pound.

Live turkeys were not moving today and dealers were offering them at lower prices. Geese were in better demand and sold from 35 to 40 cents per pound while dressed geese sold from 33 to 35 cents per pound.

Lettuce continued in very liberal supply with only a small demand reported. Green onions sold from $1.50 to $1.75 per box, a decline of about 50 cents per box.

Holding of apples in city cold storage was reported at 432,415 boxes on December 21, an increase of 3,743 boxes during the week. A total of 112,993 sacks of onions and 1,834 sacks of potatoes are now held in city cold storages. There was very little increase in these two commodities during the week.

supplies light: Pineapples, grapes, pears, cabbage, beans, summer squash, cauliflower, rhubarb, cucumbers, lettuce, tomatoes, peas.
Supplies heavy: Bananas, apples, oranges, grape fruit, lemons, potatoes, celery, onions, spinach, lettuce, bell peppers, egg plant.

Auction Sale Extraordinary

5 DAY SALE
ESCONDIDO, CALIF., DECEMBER 26 to 30
Wonderful Opportunity to secure a ranch at your own price
THIS SALE CONSISTS OF CITRUS, DAIRY AND CHICKEN RANCHES. ALSO CITY PROPERTY

SOLD TO HIGHEST BIDDER TUESDAY, DEC. 26, AT 1:30 P. M.

Within one mile of Escondido, on excellent road, we have a dairy ranch, which can hardly be excelled for its size and income-bearing ability. There is a complete dairy equipment and about 6 acres of good yielding alfalfa. Three silos of about 150 tons capacity, ensilage cutter, all implements and tools necessary, except the team and wagon. There are now 10 milk cows, 2 heifers and bull. Everything is to go. There are about 40 tons of ensilage on hand, together with enough alfalfa hay to carry over. These cows are now paying $200 per month. The place is completely piped for irrigation and has a very good pumping plant, with an abundance of water to thoroughly irrigate all land. Good house, barn, garage, cow barn, with all feed conveniently at hand to make easy operation. Near good schools, churches, and close to paved highway. We consider this one of the best small dairy propositions in the county. Don't fail to investigate this property. These cows are all good Jerseys that are bred up for production. Mr. W. W. Young, the owner, recently had a serious operation and is forced by reason of his health to quit the business. Otherwise this ranch would not be for sale at any price. This is your opportunity to get a dairy at the bidder's price.

TO BE SOLD WEDNESDAY, DEC. 27, 10 A. M.
We will sell a good 10 acre citrus and chicken ranch just outside the city limits. In one of the best citrus locations and surrounded by high class properties. This consists of 4 acres of 7-year-old bearing lemon trees, 2 acres of bearing navel oranges, 4 acres of mixed fruit trees, and fine garden spot. Capacity for 500 chickens with good houses, etc. Six-room modern house with sleeping porch. Barn and tool shed. 252 shares of Mutual Water company stock, with complete irrigation system. Good well and pumping plant. This ranch is in a high state of cultivation. The owner was incapacitated in the Government service and cannot longer physically stand any hard labor. This will stand close investigation, and will convince you that here is an opportunity to step into a nice place which is coming into paying proposition. Chas. Lot, owner.

THIS PROPERTY TO BE SOLD WEDNESDAY, DEC. 27, AT 1:30 P. M.
This place is in the city limits of Escondido in an excellent location, with good neighbors and near schools, etc. It consists of about 2 1/2 acres and is all well improved with good buildings, garage, chicken houses, barn, etc. The chicken equipment is good, with five houses and room for about 600 hens. The soil is excellent, has been heavily fertilized. There is an excellent variety of bearing deciduous trees, a large amount of young grapes. The residence is a good 6-room house with electricity, bath, toilet, etc. This place could be subdivided to excellent advantage. This place must be seen to be appreciated. Howard Hopps, owner.

TO BE SOLD THURSDAY, DEC. 28, AT 10 A. M.
About one mile south of Escondido there is an excellent 6 1/2-acre ranch which we think, on investigation, will convince you that there is an opportunity to obtain an unusually good small citrus and chicken property. It is nicely improved with a modest house, barn, garage, and chicken equipment for about 800 hens. There are about 3 acres of 4-year-old lemon trees, about 2 acres 4-year-old peaches, and about 1 acre of 3-year-old grapes. Both city and Mutual water; has a fine well of good water, 21000 gallon cement reservoir, also tank and tank house. This must be seen to be appreciated. The owner Mr. O. H. Cobb, must soon undergo an operation and feels that he must sell. This is a fine homestead, with a wonderful view of the Home Land Acres vineyard tract. This section is coming to the front, and the opportunity here is to step into this place just when it is coming into an income. This is considered a very good buy and the property will be worth double its present value in a short time.

TO BE SOLD SATURDAY, DEC. 30, AT 10 A. M.
This property consists of 10 acre citrus ranch, located about 3 miles northeast of Escondido, in the citrus belt and alongside of a successful ranch now showing a very satisfactory income. Excellent soil, abundant water for both irrigation and domestic purposes. About 7 1/2 acres of bearing oranges and lemons; balance in bearing grapes and deciduous fruits. Some walnuts and almonds. Good electric pumping plant and also about 200 shares of stock in the Mutual Water company. The owner of this ranch is in poor health and must sell. This ranch is improved with a nice 7-room house in good condition, electricity, water and bath. Unusually large sleeping porch. We should mention that there is plenty of water on this place now, so that the entire place can be irrigated with the owner's pumping plant without resort to the regular ditch water. B. G. Roberson, owner.

Escondido is located on the inland paved highway between San Diego and Los Angeles, 18 miles inland from Oceanside, Calif. Our climate is unsurpassed. We have one of the finest citrus sections in the state. Excellent poultry industry. Noted the world over for our famous Muscat grapes. The Warner's Dam project adds quite largely to our water supply, thus making it possible for all kinds of future developments.
Present prices of land here are fully one-third to one-half of those asked in any other section of California.
Come down and spend Holiday Week with us; see the possibilities of our valley and be convinced that Escondido is a good place to locate.
All the above listings will be sold positively to the highest bidder. Reasonable terms can be arranged, if desired.

REVEALS YULE WISHES 27 YEARS AGO

ents left when you leave Santa Ana. I want a light-colored four-in-hand necktie, an Esquimaux dog, a pair of russet shoes, and a dog collar for my cat. There is no snow for your sleigh, so you can come on a bicycle."

Then, there was Robbie Spurgeon, who wanted a jumping jack and a little drum—Robbie, who recently returned to Santa Ana and took up his duties with W. A. Huff and company.

Garland O. Ross, now a leading dentist in Santa Ana, was just as unselfish then as he is now. Here's his letter:

"I want a rubber ball, and an air-gun, at Mr. Hawley's, and twenty-five cents worth of shot, and a dog with bells on, at the Racket, and a windmill, and a football. Dear Santa, please send something to somebody else."

Velda Medlock, who later became the bride of Clarence A. Gustlin, one of Santa Ana's most gifted musicians, wrote one of the sweetest letters Kris Kringle ever received:

"Please For Poor Tots."

"I do not wish anything this year," she said, "but would rather you would give the things to children who have no money to buy things with. If you please, give them clothes and a few toys. If it be boys, give them baseballs; if it be girls, give them dolls."

Johnnie Spencer wanted a Bible, a frog, an argun and some shot and a drum.

"The Bible is at the book store," he wrote, "and the frog is at the candy kitchen."

Viola Hill, now a missionary in China and who was a recent visitor in Santa Ana, asked Santa to bring her:

"A live canary, a doll trunk, a doll buggy with a top, and a little duck that will squeak."

And, then, showing the good common sense that has characterized her throughout her life, she added:

"I would like a bicycle, but I expect times are too hard this year. I will hang my stockings by the stove in the kitchen."

Letter From Teddies.

And here we have the Teddies boys and girls—Lois, Clarence and Granville. Clarence is an architect in Los Angeles and Granville is a dentist in Hollywood. The trio sent Santa the following quaint letter which shows the fine craftsmanship of Lois:

"I thought you would be pleased to hear from us. I want twin dolls, to be dressed alike in baby long clothes, and a doll buggy, also a doll's trunk. This is what Clarence wants, a gun and a boat. And Granville will take anything you bring him."

Nannie Tedford, now the wife of a New York minister, wanted a doll.

"Like Cora Harris has, and a trunkful of clothes for it." As an afterthought she added:

"Dorothy Stafford will be here that night, but you need not bring her a doll, for she is going to have one of my old dolls fixed up also. You might bring her something else."

Remember The Poor.

Carrie Yoch, member of a pioneer Santa Ana family, wanted "a doll, a dollar, two big boxes of candy, and a Christmas tree full of toys, while Charles Wallace was content to ask for books. Mary Spurgeon (deceased) asked Santa to remember the poor children and asked only for a nice doll and buggy and some dishes."

Genevieve Nickey requested a rocking chair, a rocking horse and a lamp, while Helen McKeever, daughter of Tom McKeever, former agent for the Wells-Fargo Express company here, wanted an album, a doll buggy, a jumping-rope, and "a store."

"Can't you bring a little bureau?" wrote Ray Rowan, "and a little doll that can open and shut its eyes, and a little doll buggy? I live close to Town's, on Third and Low streets."

And so it went. One wanted, this; another wanted, that. Charles Artz, now a prominent merchant at Tustin, demanded a book "with a great many pictures and also a great many pieces to speak at school," while Faith Shaw, daughter of the editor of The Orange County Herald, wanted a doll "like Cora Harris has and a trunkful of clothes for it." Which doubtless led Kris Kringle to opine that Cora must have had "some doll."

All Sections of County.

Letters for Santa, opened by the ruthless editor of The Herald, came from all sections of Orange county, including Anaheim, Orange, Bolsa, San Juan Capistrano, Tustin, Villa Park, El Toro and other points. Many of the boys and girls of yesteryear still reside in the county, others are far from the scenes of their childhood, while still others have joined the silent host where there is no night.

Thus, in all reverence, we turn the yellowed pages in Kris Kringle's Great Book of Records. And it is clear, after perusing the record, that the boys and girls of yesteryear were not so very different from the boys and girls of today. The boy wanted a gun, a ball, a bat; the girl wanted a doll, a buggy, some beads and a bird. It is ever thus. What was it the old poet said?

"The moving finger writes, and, having writ, moves on."

Here is a list of those who wrote Kris Kringle letters in the long ago:

SIXTY BOYS ATTEND 'Y' GROUP MEETING

Sixty boys identified with Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. groups today were recalling the pleasures of last evening when they assembled at the First Presbyterian church in a get-together meeting. Each boy carried his dinner to the church in a box or basket. Hot chocolate was served.

Following dinner, indoor games and stunts were on the program, which also included stereopticon slides presenting Christmas scenes. T. P. McKee, community secretary, operated the machine. In an address, Ralph Smedley, Y. M. C. A. building secretary, declared that the real meaning of Christmas is not how much one will get but how much one can give. He referred to Jesus as the Son of Christmas and declared that the real Christmas spirit centered around the Savior.

NOTE IMPROVEMENT IN CHIEF JUSTICE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Chief Justice Taft today continued to show improvement from the effects of his recent operation. Beginning today, he probably will be able to devote some time to the writing of supreme court opinions at his home here, but his doctors have recommended that he do little work during the next ten days.

tender majesty. The Elks will take Santa Claus to Birch park tomorrow afternoon to entertain 2400 children, under 12 years old. Candy and toys will be given to every one of the swarming throng.

Plan Community Tree
The children's merry voices still will ring in the giant deodar, decorated and lighted as the Community Christmas tree, when the Santa Ana Musical society gives its Christmas music festival Sunday evening at 5 o'clock. Thousands of Santa Anans will gather for this Christmas eve celebration in song. Madame Constance Balfour will be the soloist.

Churches throughout the city have been giving their Christmas parties to children in the Sunday schools. The Baptist Sunday school held its party yesterday afternoon, as did the First Methodist Sunday school.

Christmas entertainment will be held at Zion's Evangelical church tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Joseph's Catholic church held its Christmas tree and party last night.

The Men's Community Bible class will hold a Christmas benefit entertainment Christmas morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Temple theater. Junior college boys will give a number entitled "Tatters," by Richard Burkow, and directed by George Gerwing, as part of the benefit program.

Scouts and Y. Boys Active
Boy Scouts and members of the Orange county Y. M. C. A. will be seen wherever some generous deed is being done for the soul of Christmas.

School girls and boys are doing, and have done, a great part in making this season merry for others. The junior college and high school girls gave presents to students of all the Mexican schools at several parties held on the last day of school.

Miss Helen Lamson entertained the pupils of her adult classes of Mexicans at a party last Saturday night.

Everywhere it is Christmas and no one is forgotten.

The entertainment at the Orange County Juvenile home on Grand avenue will begin at 5:10 o'clock this afternoon. The program, arranged by the Orange County Officers' and Employees' association, under the direction of Mrs. Nora Allen, superintendent, assisted by Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, president of the county association, is expected to bring a wealth of Christmas cheer to the young folk at the home.

Will Play Santa
County Probation Officer R. R. Miller, in the role of Santa Claus, will distribute numerous attractive gifts from a beautifully decorated tree. This feature will follow a program in which will participate Lester Schroeder, saxophone; Miss Virginia Slabaugh, violin; Miss Lizzetta Phillips, xylophone; and T. B. Talbert, who will give a vocal solo.

One of the Christmas season's attractive events will be the presentation of "In the Toy Shop," at the First Christian church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The Santa Ana "Flea Weight" Community Players will give this playlet, which was written by Percival Wilde. Those who will participate include the Misses Harriot Morris, Eleanor Mitchell, Bettie Martin, Bonnie Hamilton, Dieta Thompson and Margaret Kennedy Kingrey. Ernest Miller, Merle Franklin Morris, Raymond Damerell, James Lash, James Hingsworth and Richard Williams.

PLAN YULE FETE AT SPURGEON M. E. CHURCH

Children of the Sunday school and members of the congregation of Spurgeon Memorial church prepared today to attend Christmas tree exercises to be held at the church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. A program will be presented by the children of the Sunday school.

An incident of the Christmas activities of the church was the revelation that there were very few families in Santa Ana in need of charitable assistance.

According to C. C. Widney, superintendent of the Sunday school, Mrs. A. A. Jones, chairman of the committee on distribution of food gifts to the poor, was unable to find places for twenty-five boxes. The food was contributed by members of the congregation. Mrs. Jones, in order to dispose of the boxes, sent a number to the Homer Toberman mission, Los Angeles.

NORFOLK MEETS ANDERSON
BOSTON, Dec. 22.—Kid Norfolk, negro heavyweight, will meet Lee Anderson here tonight. Norfolk is all confidence and is looking forward to a battle with Siki.

POLISH GRAPPLER WINS
BOSTON, Dec. 22.—Stanley Stasiak, Polish wrestler, defeated Ivan Michaeloff, Russian, in straight falls here.

Your Christmas Turkey Is At Seidel's

And It's Grain Fed, Sweet and Fat

We were fortunate enough to secure our stock of Christmas Turkeys from the same place that furnished our Thanksgiving birds. Our patrons who were far-sighted enough to reserve one of our turkeys at that time know how good they were. If you wish to headline your Christmas dinner with a turkey, we advise you to place your order with us at once.

For those who intend to have something else besides turkey, we call particular attention to favorite cuts of special Christmas, Corn-Fed Pork.

Payne, Miss Teresa Knapp and Miss Zola Powelson, altos; Ogden Markel and Robert Paine jr., tenors; Carl Heim and Fred Dierker, bass. Miss Mamie Smakel will be soloist in the Kyrie, with Mrs. Wilson at the organ. In the Gloria, Miss Elizabeth Easton and Robert Paine Jr. will be soloists while Miss Powelson, Messrs. Markel, Paine and Heim will be soloists in the Credo. "Oh Holy Night" will be sung as the offertory with Miss Easton taking the solo and obligato parts, while Miss Smakel will be soloist in the Sanctus; Mr. Markel in the Benedictus and Miss Anna Young in Agnus Dei. Gounod's "Nativity" will be the impressive communion offering, with Miss Powelson as soloist and the mass will end with the organ postlude by Widor, played by Mrs. Wilson.

To Sing Carols.

At the 8 o'clock mass, the children will sing Christmas carols under the direction of the sisters. In the absence of the Rev. Father Henry Eumelen, the Rev. Father M. H. Morris will officiate at all services.

With Alfred Butler, head of the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music, at the organ, the morning program at the Baptist church will offer a solo by Leon Eckles, who will sing the Revell Christmas song, and Mrs. H. M. Sammis, whose choice was "There Were Shepherds" by Lynes. The anthem, "Awake, Awake!" by Dudley Buck will be sung by the chorus choir of thirty voices, while the Christmas message will be delivered by the pastor, the Rev. Otto S. Russell. Under the direction of Mr. Eckles, the Dudley Buck cantata, "The Coming of the King," will be given at the evening hour with Mrs. Sammis, Miss Laura Joiner, Messrs. Eckles and Warren Hilyard as soloists.

Under the direction of Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, two musical programs will be presented at the Congregational church with the Rev. Perry F. Schrock addressing the congregation on each occasion.

Mrs. Hulda Dietz as morning soloist will sing "Love Came Down at Christmas" composed by Allen Revell, church organist, who will accompany here, while Elwood Bear will play a violin obligato. Bear will also give a violin solo.

At Evening Service.

At the evening service the soloists will be Ray Miles, singing Adams' "Cantique Noel" and Mrs. Slabaugh singing "The Angel's Song" by Stickles with Mr. Revell, Miss Ethel Stearns and Miss Vere Stearns giving organ, violin and cello accompaniment. The two Misses Stearns have recently completed a Chautauqua tour with Frances Ingraham and are delightful musicians. In addition the cantata "Story of Bethlehem" will be given by the church quartette, Mesdames Dietz and Slabaugh, and Raymond Miles and Maurice Phillips augmented by the voices of Miss Kathleen Owens, Mr. and Mrs. John Matson and John Melien of Orange.

At the Christian church the Rev. F. T. Porter will have the aid of a beautiful song service at the evening hour arranged under the direction of Hazel Landers. Hummel with Miss Carrie Seaton, organist. Mrs. Hummel will sing "Holy Night," by Adams with a flute obligato by Walter O. Gara, while the quartette composed of Mrs. Ethel Troxell Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hummel and Will Gallienne will offer Dudley Buck's "There were Shepherds" with the assistance of the chorus choir of thirty voices. Miss Lizetta Phillips and Merle Ramsey will give a xylophone duet, Kennedy's "Star of the East;" Herschel Clayton will sing "Holy City" with Miss Seaton at the organ and Mrs. Thompson at the piano and Mr. Gallienne will sing Adams' "Star of Bethlehem."

Plan Carol Service.

At the Church of the Messiah a Christmas carol service in which the entire congregation will take part has been arranged by Mrs. W. B. Leecraft with Mrs. Dawson at the organ. Fred Wilde will be soloist and the choir will sing the anthem, "Oh, Holy Night." The Christmas morning communion service by King Hall will be conducted by the Rev. W. L. H. Benton and will be marked by special music. This will be at 9 a. m. Monday.

The First Presbyterian church congregation will welcome the presence of their former pastor, the Rev. J. A. Stevenson, both morning and evening. Special Christmas music will mark each service and at the evening hour the soloists will be Robert Brown and Harold Gorton, with Harry Garstang at the organ. Elwood Bear will offer violin numbers and the male quartette composed of Messrs. Brown, Gorton, A. J. Garway and E. E. Newman will sing.

Morning services at the First Methodist church will offer a Christmas message by the Rev. Will A. Betts and a solo by Mrs. Hazel Humphries, who will sing Allen Revell's "Love Came Down at Christmas," with Mrs. W. B. Snow at the organ. The choir of approximately thirty voices will offer two anthems. In the evening the program will be presented by the Sunday school. Recitations and song by the beginners', primary and junior departments will be followed by the spectacular "The Visit of the Wise Men," by Allen H. Crooker, directed by Mrs. John Clarkson. A musical accompaniment will be offered by Mrs. Snow and the chorus, and the Wise Men of the East will be enacted by Eustace Snow, Wilson Glazner and Maxwell Jayne. A special number will be the song "Make Way for the King" by the Girls' Glee club of the church.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1922

PAGES THIRTEEN TO TWENTY

TWO POLY ELEVENS READY FOR CLASH

Final arrangements were being made here today for the football game to be played at Poly field Christmas afternoon between the Santa Ana high school All-Southern championship team of 1921 and the prospective Poly eleven of 1923.

Captain-elect Eddie Linsbard will lead the next year's outfit into action against the team which copped the title last year and was only rebuffed by Bakersfield in the semi-final contest for the state championship.

With the exception of "Jeff" Cravath, center, every man who played for Santa Ana last year will be in action Christmas. "Nick" Wilcox, who is handling the affairs of last year's aggregation, declared Cravath has been attending school in Kansas and will not be home for the holidays.

Proceeds from the clash will be used to purchase gold footballs for members of the Poly team of the season just closed. Approximately $160 is necessary to buy these tokens and the student body is not in such financial condition that it can expend that amount at the present time.

Among the men who will be seen in action for last year's squad are "Bart" Cock, who played full for the California freshmen this year, Harry Le Bard, who was at tackle for the strong Pomona first year aggregation and Newt Stark who was a sensation with the U. S. C. freshmen. Wilcox will be at quarter, Knight and Williams at halves, Coffman, Stark and Armstrong at ends, Le Bard and Bell at tackles, Elliott and Everett Best at guards and Stillens at center.

The 1923 squad will have such men as Linsbard, Dungan, "Darney" Le Bard, Luck, Golden, Cook, Wurster, Ritchie, Sheets, Spencer, Lancaster, Smith, Natland, Wood and Kirmis.

FRISCH DENIES RACE AS PLAYERS' PREXY

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Frank Frisch, Giant second baseman, denied that he was seeking the presidency of the new Baseball Players association, but admitted he was a member and "wanted to string along with the boys."

HEISMAN IS OFFERED JOB AS W. & J. COACH

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—John Heisman, who has announced his retirement as head football coach at Pennsylvania, has received an offer to take Earl Neale's place at W. and J. Friends say he has received nine other offers.

GIBBONS GETS OFFER TO BATTLE DEMPSEY

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 22.—Although he has been forced to call off his scheduled bout with Jimmy Delaney in Oklahoma City for January 8, Harry Greb, light heavyweight champion, denied that he eyesight had been badly impaired in his recent fight with Bob Roper.

Queen Bread one and one-half pound loaf 12c at your grocer.

Billy Evans Says:

Nick Altrock, king clown of baseball, gets his stuff at various places and Nick's stuff happens to be his daily diamond act. Not so many years ago it was what he put on the ball, for Altrock was one of the game's greatest pitchers.

Altrock had little to work on when he started clowning. He had to seek material, and he found some of it in strange places.

Nick's tight-wire act, one of the best things he does, was picked off a slack wire in a back yard. Nick's next-door neighbor was a man who made his livelihood doing slack wire stuff at county fairs in the summer and autumn months. At the close of the season the performer returned home and practiced new stuff on a slack wire stretched across the yard in the rear of his home. Altrock used to sit at his window watching the practice for hours and Nick's act is not a burlesque but a perfect imitation of his next-door neighbor practicing his program for the next summer.

One day Altrock visited the training camp of Johnny Kilbane and he saw Johnny shadow box. He came again and again and worked up his shadow-boxing act from what he saw Kilbane pull.

Then, one day Nick saw Zbyszko wrestle and there he got the idea for his wrestling act.

"One day I was pulling the wrestling stunt in Washington," says Nick. "I had been pitching to batters in practice and I was wringing wet. I put my hand on my neck, pretending to have a strange hold and started going down, but the perspiration on my neck made it so slippery that my hand shot off and since I was off balance at the time I went down, all my poundage on the shoulder."

"Talk about a sickening pain—I never felt anything like it before. I thought I'd never get up, but I pretended to be laughing and made my exit. I took a taxi to a hospital and there they found that part of the bone had been chipped from the shoulder."

"After that I was sure my neck was dry before I started the wrestling stunt. Also there are often some serious moments for the performer while he is trying to amuse."

PANTHERS REACH CHICAGO
CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—The Pitt Panthers stopped in Chicago for two hours today en route to Palo Alto, California, where they will play the Stanford team December 30. Glen Warner, veteran coach at the University of Pittsburgh is to coach at Stanford in 1924. He declared his charges were in fine condition.

PENN STATE COACH SETS REAL RECORD WITH GRID SQUADS

Hugo Bezdek who leads Penn State against U. S. C. at Pasadena New Year's Day.

Three years without suffering a defeat is the proud record held by Coach Hugo Bezdek of Penn State. Penn State started a winning streak after going down to defeat before Pittsburg on October 19, 1919. The score was 19 to 13.

Thirty games were played before Penn State was finally defeated by the Navy on November 4, 1922. The score was 14 to 0.

Of the thirty games played before suffering a walloping, Penn State won 25 and tied five. This remarkable record was in no way aided by soft schedules, as Penn during those three years met most of the strong teams in the country. The 1922 campaign has been a very unusual one for Bezdek. Three defeats in one season is decidedly out of the ordinary for Bezdek-coached teams. That's what happened.

LOCAL RIFLE CLUB MEMBERS ENGAGE IN INDOOR SHOOT HERE

Members of the Santiago Rifle club today were looking forward with keen interest to the next program which will be held in about two weeks following the first indoor shoot of the season held at the Legion hall here last Wednesday night at which all of the men had new equipment.

At the next shoot some of the members will try for government medals, it was announced. The feature event of the Wednesday night was the pie shooting contest which was won by Warner.

SANTA ANA KNIGHTS TO PLAY L. A. K. C. TEAM HERE SUNDAY

Pitted against the Los Angeles Knights of Columbus baseball team, the Santa Ana K. C. aggregation is expected to have one of the hardest fought games of the Southern California K. C. league season on its hands here next Sunday afternoon.

Both teams are even in the league per cent column but the local men figure to step out with a win and take their place near the top of the heap.

J. A. Markel, manager of the Santa Ana Cases, today announced that arrangements had been made whereby the fracas will be played on the diamond of the Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion. This field is at the corner of West Fifth street and Sullivan avenue and is much closer than the Delhi ground where the Santa Ana K. C. team has played its games in the past.

The game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock, Markel said.

ARCHITECT DURFEE OPENS OFFICE HERE

M. Eugene Durfee, architect of Anaheim and Fullerton, today announced that he had purchased the business of W. W. Kays, who has been engaged in architectural designing here for a number of years. Rooms over the Orange County Trust and Savings bank are being altered to adapt them to Durfee's office plans.

Kays, according to Durfee, will in the future devote himself exclusively to the handling of building materials. Kays has taken office rooms in the Spurgeon building.

Alterations now in progress will afford Durfee better facilities for giving service to patrons. He has been prominent in the northern half of the county and has drawn plans for many of the buildings erected at Anaheim and Fullerton.

Plans for C. C. Chapman's new five-story building at Fullerton were drawn by Durfee and the architect is now developing plans for a theater building to be erected at Fullerton by Stanley Chapman.

Sam Cramer, of Placentia, has been doing extensive building at Anaheim under designs drawn by Durfee.

G. T. Martin, who has been employed by Kays, will have charge of the local office, Durfee announced.

RING COMMISSION SAFEGUARDS BOUT

Claim Gamblers Active as Lynch, Smith Ready for Championship Clash

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, DEC. 22.—Concerned over unusual activity among the gamblers, the New York state boxing commission is throwing additional safeguards around the world's bantamweight championship bout tonight between Joe Lynch and Midget Smith.

Many stories have been in circulation for several days, but the commission would admit only that a large number of telephone calls had been received at the office from persons desiring to know the referee and judge that had been selected for the bout.

Beyond discussion of these angles, there is little interest in the fight. Lynch, because of his superior boxing and his stronger and more accurate punching, is regarded as the favorite.

Smith is a fast little worker and he generally gives plenty of action, which has brought him a large following. This will be his third meeting with Lynch and there is no reason to believe that he will do any better than he did in the past. The Midget goes into the ring tonight because the commission stretched several points for him. He fought three days ago in Jersey City, when he lost to Johnny Curtin. He was under suspension and the suspension was lifted immediately so that he might go on in this show.

LIEN LAW FOR FARM LABORER IS PLANNED

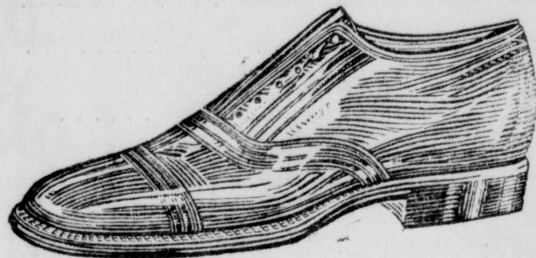

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 22.—An amendment to the lien law of California will be asked by the state labor commissioner, according to a letter forwarded from here by Arthur L. Johnson, deputy labor commissioner, to the bureau of labor statistics in San Francisco.

The amendment will ask that priority and a definite lien be given farm laborers on the agricultural crops which they harvest or develop. Under the present law according to Johnson, the farm laborer has no definite lien on the crops he harvests. And if his wages are withheld he is made to wait until the banks and others get their money. With the failure of crops the farm workers have been left without the wages they have all season waited to collect. The rice workers have been the principal sufferers from these conditions, says Johnson.

YULE CALLS ON PHONE HELLO GIRLS' JINX

"Let's call up all our friends and wish them a Merry Christmas!"

The suggestion does not come from Earl S. Morrow, district manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company—he wants the fifty-odd operators of the Santa Ana exchange to have a chance for a little Christmas dinner between times.

Nevertheless, if you simply did not have time to send all your Christmas cards, or the necessary number of presents and want to ease your way out of an uncomfortable situation, Morrow and his staff will be right on the job. Tinkle! Tinkle. B-r-r-r, and again tinkle!

"Hullo, dear. Such a lovely present. How thoughtful of you. Did you receive the little gift I sent to you? Not yet! How strange! But then all the packages have not been delivered yet, I suppose. The poor, poor mailman!"

"We're All Cheerful!"

My! What cheerful ones we are at Merry Christmas time! Meanwhile, the telephone girl is telling a few of your friends that your line is busy, and your friends think she, too, is a cheerful one, only they are not as diplomatically silent.

They are the ones Manager Morrow wants to talk to about his telephone business. Your friends, you know, not you.

"Every time anything happens, like a fire or a football game or a Merry Christmas," Morrow patiently explains, while gazing admiringly at the piece of holly in his button-hole. "Your friends pick up their respective telephones to ask about it, or talk about it, or wish about it."

"The switchboard immediately becomes a blaze of light. It looks something like an airplane view of Santa Fe Springs or Huntington Beach at night."

"The telephone subscriber cannot see the switchboard. He does not know he is lined up with several hundred others trying to wedge their way through the crowd to see the fire, or to watch the football game, or to wish each other a Merry Christmas."

"Watch the line at the post office these days, or the line in a bank around closing hour Saturday morning, or the crowd wedding its way through the gate to catch the last car home Sunday night."

"Simply have to wait for the fellow ahead of you, don't you?"

"Such line-ups occur on the telephone in the same way, only the subscriber cannot see them. He can hardly be blamed if he is impatient of delay, but if he is your friend and you tell him how it is, we feel sure he will help us over these 'high-pressure' periods of telephone use."

MOTHERS' CONGRESS HITS YELLOW PRESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—Non-sensational handling of news stories by the press in the interest of the home, embodied in a resolution acted by Mrs. John S. Sheehan in the November minutes of the executive board of the California Congress of Mothers, was formally favored by the San Francisco Congress of Mothers at their regular monthly meeting held in the city hall, Mrs. Lucien Baer, home chairman, and Mrs. George Wale, press chairman, brought the matter before the local organization.

A special meeting of presidents of the Congress of Mothers has been called for January 8 at 1:30 o'clock at the Hotel Whitcomb. An expression of appreciation to the press for news regarding the San Francisco congress in their columns was expressed by the president, Mrs. W. A. Smith.

JUVENILE BOOK DEMAND GREAT AT YULETIDE

Santa Ana parents are giving more children's books as Christmas presents this year than ever before, in the opinion of Miss Jeannette McFadden, librarian.

"The display table here at the library of illustrated books for children has served its purpose, I do believe."

"Most of the books now look as if they had been in circulation for several months. Yet that wear has come about during the past few weeks."

"Children and parents alike are entranced by the beauty of the illustrations, the well written text, and general make-up of the books."

"Eugene Field's poems for children in a volume illustrated by Maxfield Parrish; tales of King Arthur's court illustrated by N. C. Wyeth; the wonderful pictures in a copy of 'Robin Hood,' which is proving immensely popular due to the recent filming of the story; Scott's 'Ivanhoe,' Stevenson's 'Treasure Island,' the reposeful pictures, almost like portraits, in 'Little Women,' and the large illustrated copies of fairy tales; all have been read and admired, and read and admired again by a continuous string of visitors to the display table."

"Children do love picture books. I do not mean just the youngest children but their elder brothers and sisters, too. Nothing stimulates circulation of books among children more than arrival of illustrated books."

"The illustrations are by the best of notable artists, and are considered among the best of their efforts. Consider the illustrations in 'Gulliver's Travels'; in fact, in all books that gain in favor with children year after year without fail."

MANILA WRITER SEEKING LOST BROTHER

Completing a 6000-mile journey and determined to find a long-lost brother, Jose Mendoza, 25, a native of the Philippine Islands and a graduate of Yorkshire university, England, arrived in Santa Ana today—a stranger in a strange land.

But, despite the fact that everything here was new to him, Mendoza was not dismayed. San Francisco, with its milling multitudes, Los Angeles, with its modern shops and the hum of progress, and other populous centers held no terrors for him. Mendoza, who sizes things up with the eye of understanding, is a newspaperman.

Speaking excellent English, and thoroughly well rounded in Spanish, Mendoza said he was delighted with America, but the thing that interested him most was the unending search for his brother.

This brother, James Mendoza, is also a newspaperman, Jose explained, and came to this country from Manila several years ago. Since that time, Jose has heard but little from James, but his heart was gladdened, several months ago, when he received a letter from Los Angeles.

"This letter," said Jose, "was from my brother and stated that he was working on a newspaper in your great Western metropolis. Unfortunately, he did not name the paper, nor give me the address. I searched far and wide for him, but I could not locate James. If this should reach his eye, I trust he will communicate with me, in care of the Y. M. C. A., Santa Ana."

The two brothers, sons of a Manila publisher, were sent to England to complete their education. Neither James nor Jose could speak or understand English when they arrived in London.

Jose remained in the British metropolis ten years and worked for many months for English newspapers. Returning to Manila, he found that James had heard—and answered the call of the States.

"Upon my return to Manila, I went to work for the island papers, but my father being dead, I too, determined to come to the States," he said. "Now that I am here, I am looking for employment—and my brother."

Mendoza said, in his opinion, the Filipino people are not prepared for self-government. "They have made great progress," however, said Mendoza, "and the day is not so very far distant when they will be able to manage their own affairs. That, of course, is a matter for the American government to decide. As for General Wood, the people like him, and he understands the people. Manila today is thoroughly modernized."

ROGERS AS ICHABOD CRANE

IN TEMPLE ATTRACTION

Life is not all a bed of roses, according to Will Rogers, who portrays the character of Ichabod Crane in "The Headless Horseman" pictured from the famous classic, "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," by Washington Irving, which is the feature attraction at the Temple theater.

Rogers began work on this production while rehearsing for the Ziegfeld "Follies" and for several weeks he had to get up in the early hours of the morning to be on hand for camera work, while twice a week he had matinees and every evening appeared at the "Follies." In addition to this, between "shots" Rogers was kept busy writing titles for this production.

All in all it kept Rogers busy jumping from the stage where the Follies were presented to Tarrytown, N. Y., the actual setting for Irving's "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," where the picture was made. However, in the words of Rogers, he likes to be busy because it keeps him out of mischief.

CONWAY TEARLE FILM DUE AT YOST SUNDAY

Conway Tearle in "Love's Masquerade" will be the attraction at the Yost theater next Sunday. Tearle is generally conceded to be among the first ten actors before the motion picture camera in point of genuine histrionic ability. The wide experience which he had on the speaking stage before turning to the movies has stood him in good stead and made it possible for him to give an excellent performance in any kind of a role which is supplied him.

"Love's Masquerade" is a story which carries the star through a succession of highly dramatic incidents which might easily have been taken from real life in any average community. It is from the pen of Edward J. Montagne who has done many good things for the photoplay world. William P. S. Earle directed the production for the Seiznick company.

"THE FAST MAIL" IS YOST

FILM ATTRACTION

Charles Jones and Eileen Percy in "The Fast Mail" at the Yost theater this week, end the picture by kissing on the limb of a tree, thereby arousing the astonishment of the spectator, even though he knows a picture must wind up in a kiss, preferably in some unusual position. For earlier in the course of this William Fox adaptation of Lincoln J. Carter's old melodrama they have gone through so many perils, especially in the case of Jones, that one would imagine they would choose some other place for osculation instead of going high up in a tree.

Jones, in chasing the plot all over the map, rides a horse which leaps over a railroad gate just in time to avoid being pushed over by the express; jumps lightly from the fast mail to a speeding automobile, and from one Mississippi steamboat to another, and swings out over a telegraph wire with the heroine clinging to his legs to escape a realistic fire, and altogether has as busy a day as a man can have and still remain fairly intact.

JANE NOVAK IN PICTURE AT PRINCESS

Jane Novak, brilliant young screen actress, who is appearing in "The Snowshoe Trail," at the Princess theater, lays claim to some decidedly novel distinctions. For example, Miss Novak has never had her jewelry stolen or her picture taken in a bathing suit. She has never been up in an airplane or down in a submarine or lost at sea. She has never studied painting in Paris, sculpture in Rome or free verse in Greenwich Village.

What, you may ask, does Miss Novak get out of life if she abstains from all the things that interest the average movie or stage star? The answer is simple. She has her home. She has her little daughter. She knows the joys of real, wholesome domesticity. And between her home and her work at the R-C studios, Jane Novak is kept pretty busy.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BEN DARBY, a prisoner, is declared to be a victim of amnesia by a noted alienist, and is paroled to an old friend, EZRA MELVILLE. Together they start on a trip to the Yuga River, where Ezra goes to take possession of a rich claim left by his brother, HIRAM MELVILLE, who recently had died. Ben is to have a partnership and a new lease of life. At Seattle lives JEFFERY NELSON and his two partners, Ray Brent and CHAN HEMINWAY. Nelson, leader of the notorious gang, has a beautiful daughter, Beatrice, with whom Brent is in love. She detests him. Brent complains to Nelson and he tells him of his plan to take the rich pocket discovered by Hiram Melville and plans with his confederates to steal the claim before Ezra can arrive. When Ben and Ezra reach the north woods Ben suddenly regains his memory. Knowledge of his past life returns. They meet a friendly stranger who directs them.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
Late afternoon, and they worked closer to the shore. And now, in the gray of twilight, Ezra saw the place to land. It was a small lagoon into which a creek emptied, and beyond was an open meadow, found so often nad so unexpectedly in the North woods. Ben turned the canoe into shore.

At once a great clarity seemed to take possession of Ben's mind. Here, in these forests, were the stimuli of which Forest, the alienist, had spoken; and his brain seemed to leap, as in one impulse, to the truth. Suddenly he knew the answer to all the questions and problems that had troubled him so long. He sprang up, his eyes blazing. "I remember everything," an inaudible voice spoke within him. Then he whispered, fervently, to his familiar wilds. "And I have come home."

CHAPTER IV
A Bolt From the Blue.
Everything was as it should be, as he and Ezra made the camp. "It's all come clear again," he told Ezra. He remembered now that Ezra had always been the most intimate friend of his own family; a spy old godfather to himself and young sister, a boon companion to his once successful rival, Ben's father. Ben did not wonder, now, at his perplexity when Forest had spoken of "Wolf" Darby. That was his own name known throughout hundreds of square miles of forest nad in dozens of little river hamlets in an Eastern province.

The journey ended at last. They saw the white peak they had been told to watch for, and soon after they came to a green bank from which the forest had been cut away. They pushed up and made landing on the banks of a small stream.

This stream, Ezra knew, was Poor Man's creek, the stream of which his brother had written and which they must ascend to reach Spruce Pass. Only five miles distant, in a quartering direction from the river, was Snowy Gulch, the village where they were to secure supplies and, from Steve Morris, the late Hiram's gun and his pet, Penrie.

Before they were fully unpacked they made out the figure of a middle-aged frontiersman, his back loaded, advancing up the road toward them.

"Howdy," Ezra began pleasantly. "Howdy," the stranger replied. "How was goin'?"

"Oh, good enough." "Come all the way from Saltville?"

"Yes, Goin' to Snowy Gulch." "It's only five miles, up this road," the stranger ventured. "I'm goin' up to Saltville way myself, but I won't have no river to tow me. I've got to do my own paddlin'. Thank the Lord I'm only goin' a small part of the way."

"You ain't goin' to swim, are you? Where's your boat?" "My pard's got an old craft, and he and I are goin' to pack it out next trip." The stranger paused, blinking his eyes. "Say, partners—you don't want to sell your boat, do you?"

Ezra stated his figure, and Ben was prone to believe that he had adopted a highwayman for a buddy. The amount named was nearly twice that which they had paid. And to his vast amazement the stranger accepted the offer in his next breath.

"So you don't know any folks in Snowy Gulch, then?" the stranger had asked politely. "But you'll get acquainted soon enough."

"I've got a letter to a feller named Morris," Ezra replied. "And I've heard of one or two more men, too—Jeffery Nelson was one of 'em—"

"You'll find Morris in town all right," the stranger ventured to assure him. "He lives right next to Nelsons. And I say—what do you know about this ma. Nelson?"

"Oh, nothin' at all. Why?" "If you fellows is prospectin', Jeffery Nelson is a first-class man to say away from—and his undertrappers, too—Ray Brent and Chan Heminway. But they're out of town right now. They skinned out all in a bunch a few weeks ago—and I can't tell you what kind of a scent they got."

Ezra felt cold to the marrow of his bones. He glanced covertly at Ben; fortunately his partner was busy among the supplies and was not listening to this conversation. "You don't know where they went, do you?" he asked.

"Not exactly. They took up this creek here a ways, through Spruce Pass, and over to Luga River—the country that kind of a crazy old chap named Hiram Melville, who died here a few weeks ago, has always prospected."

The stranger marveled that his old listener should have suddenly gone quite pale. Ezra had only a moment's further conversation with his new friend. He put two or three questions—in a rather curious, hushed voice—and got his answer. "What have you and your poor victim been talking about, all this time?" Ben asked. "Oh, just a gabfest—a tat-tat as you'd call it. But you know, Ben, I've got a idea all a-sudden. Ben straightened, lighted his pipe, and prepared to listen. "This old boy tells me that we'd save just twelve miles by striking off from here, instead of going into town. Snowy Gulch is six miles, and we have to come back to this very place. What's the use of goin' into town at all?" "Good heavens, Ez? Have you forgotten we've got to get supplies? And your brother's gun—and his dog?" "Yes, I know—one of use has. But, Ben, it seems to me that one of us ought to strike off now and figure out the way and sort of get located." "Oh, it would be all right," Ben began rather doubtfully. "I don't see that much is to be gained by it. But I'll strike off on foot, if you want me to."

Ezra's mind was flashing with thoughts like lightning, and his answer was ready. "Ben, if you don't mind, I'll do that," he said. "But you'd get a ride, if you waited—"

"I hate a horse, anyway—" "You've surely changed a lot since the war." "I was thrown off not long ago—and have been leery of the dum things ever since."

Ezra was wholly deliberate. He knew what waited him on arrival at his brother's claim. Jeffery Nelson and his gang had assembled there, had already jumped the claim just as his brother had warned him that they would do; and coolly and quietly he had resolved to face them alone.

He made his pack—a few simple provisions wrapped in his blanket—and a knife and camp axe swung on his belt. He took his trusted pipe—because he knew well that he could never acquit himself creditably in a fight without a few lungfuls of tobacco smoke first—and he also took his rifle. "You keep this copy of the letter," he handed Ben the copy he had made of Hiram's will. "I'm the worst hand for losin' things you ever seen."

They said their simple goodbys, shaking hands over a pile of stores. "I've only got one decent place to keep things safe," Ezra confided, "and that ain't so all-fired decent, either. When I get any papers that are extra precious, I always stick 'em down the leg of these high old boots, between the sock and the leather. But it's too much work to take the boot off now, so you keep the letter."

"I suppose you've got a million-dollar bank note hidden down there now," Ben remarked. "No, not a cent. Just the same, if ever I get shuffled off all of a sudden I want you to look there mighty careful. There may be a document or two of importance."

"I won't forget," Ben promised. CHAPTER V
Taming the Wolf.

On arriving in Snowy Gulch, Ben's first efforts were to inquire in regard to horses. Both pack and saddle animals, he learned, were to be hired of Sandy Clurg, owner of the general store, and leading citizen; and at once he made his way to confer with "Most of my mustangs are rented out," the merchant informed him, "but if you can get along with three, I guess I can fix you up. You can pack two of 'em, and ride the third." "Good enough," Ben agreed. "And after I once get in, I'd like to turn back two of them, and maybe all three—to save the hire and the bother of taking care of them."

"Just a little faster than a dog. Horses don't care much to grub their food out of them spruce tops. Where are you heading, if the question's fair?" "Through Spruce Pass and down into the Yuga River."

"Prospecting, eh? There's been quite a movement down that way lately. By starting early you can make it through in a day. And you said your name was—" "Darby. Ben Darby."

The merchant opened his eyes. "Not the Ben Darby that took all the prizes at the meet at Lodge Pole?" Ben's ragged face lit with the brilliancy of his smile. "The same, Darby," he admitted. "And when did you say you was going?"

"First thing tomorrow." "Well, you're pretty likely to have companionship on the road, too." "I'm glad of it, if he isn't a tenderfoot. That must be a pretty thickly settled region—where I'm heading." "On the contrary, there's only three human beings in the whole district. These three are some men who went up that way prospecting some time ago, and this party will make four."

"All right—I'll be here before dawn tomorrow and get the horses. And now will you tell me—where Steve Morris lives?" "Right up the street—clear to the end of the row." McClurg's humor had quite engulfed him by now, and he chuckled again. "And if I was you, I'd stop in the door just this side—and get acquainted with your fellow traveler."

"What's his name?" Ben asked. "The party is named Nelson." "All right. Maybe I'll look him up."

A few moments later he was standing in the Morris home, facing the one friend that Hiram Melville had possessed on earth. "Hiram didn't leave anything, as far as I know, except his old gun and his pet. Lord knows, I'd let anybody take that pet of his that's fool enough to say he's got any claim to him, and you can be sure I ain't going to dispute his claim."

He turned, with the intention of securing the gun from an inner room. He did not even reach the door. It was as if both of them were struck motionless, frozen in cold, fixed attitudes, by a shrill scream for help that penetrated like a bullet the thin walls of the house. The sound was in the range between a growl and a bay, instantly identifying itself as the utterance of an animal, rather than a human being. Ben's first thought was of some enormous, vicious dog, and yet his wood's sense told him that the utterance was not that of a dog.

He heard it even as he leaped through the door in answer to the scream for aid. His muscles gathered with that mysterious power that had always sustained him in his moments of crisis. He took the steps in one leap, Morris immediately behind him.

"Fear is loose," he heard the man say. "He'll kill some one!" He raced about the house; and at once the scene, in every vivid detail, was revealed to him. Pressed back against the wall of a little woodshed that stood behind her house a girl stood at bay—a dark-eyed girl whose beautiful face was drawn and stark-white with horror. She was screaming for aid, her fascinated gaze held by a gray-black, houndlike creature that crouched, snarling, twenty yards distant.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

A Cause for Alarm

—BY BLOSSER

A PUZZLE A DAY

An ice boat is at A on the lake shown above. The wind is blowing 4 miles an hour from A toward B. As there is very little friction on ice, the ice boat can travel nearly as fast as the wind. How can it be made to travel faster than 40 miles an hour, using wind, alone, as the motive power?

Yesterday's answer: Two anagrams may be formed from the 31 letters in "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year": "My prayer and wishes reach many apart." "Many a sad heart can whisper my prayer." Year.

EVENING SALUTATION

But cold winds bring not Christmastide, nor budding roses June,
And when it is night upon your side, we're basking in the noon.
Kind hearts make Christmas—June can bring blue sky or clouds above;
The only universal spring is that which comes of love.
—D. B. W. Sladen.

A BEAUTIFUL CHRISTMAS

This has been an especially beautiful Christmas week in Santa Ana. When the gentle rains ceased a few days ago, the skies were cleared for spring-time weather—blue skies, sunshine all day long.

And nowhere could the Christmas spirit be more satisfying and pleasurable than it has been here, and as it will be throughout the Christmas season.

As one goes along the streets of our city, smiles and cheery words are everywhere met. There is nothing of gloom in the countenances that we see.

The poor and needy are few and far between. Local clubs and organizations and school children this year seem to have made an unusual effort to locate families and individuals where a bit of Christmas might be taken, and good things for Christmas dinners have already been delivered in those homes. There is reason to believe that there will be no single home in Santa Ana that will feel that Christmas of 1922 was not meant for them.

The joy of this Christmas has been this year, and will be, as always, more in the giving than in the receiving. This spirit prevails.

The spirit of the new-born Christ is abroad in our land. As a community sentiment, it is to be concentrated on Christmas eve in a joyous gathering at Birch park. There, all may gather and together lift their voices in praise of Him who was born at Bethlehem.

FOR A NEW HOSPITAL

One of the projects before the Santa Ana valley during 1923 is the raising of money for a new, modern, fire-proof hospital.

Pledges for the fund to be used in procuring the hospital are now being received. Those who initiated the plan have been giving much of their time and thought to the work, and will continue to put forth their efforts in its behalf until the construction of the hospital is assured.

This project is, first of all, a community affair. It is one in which every citizen ought to be interested, and in which a large proportion of the citizens must interest themselves if the matter is to be carried through to a successful conclusion.

It is essentially a movement for the betterment of the Santa Ana valley. The need of a new hospital is recognized, and thorough co-operation in a liberal and public-spirited way ought to be forthcoming immediately.

THE PUBLIC, NOT HAYS, THE JUDGE

It will take a great deal more than an edict by Will Hays to bring Fatty Arbuckle back to popularity. Fatty Arbuckle can never again be shown on the screen without arousing the disgust of a considerable proportion of an audience. Smirks and nudges will greet him from those whose dispositions can stand him, but wry faces and protests will show that he is condemned by those who learned, never to forget, that Fatty Arbuckle soiled the faith and marred the thoughts of countless thousands of children who had admired him and in whose daily lives he was a hero and a by-word.

The Fatty Arbuckle affair in San Francisco is the blackest page in the history of the moving picture industry. The fact that Arbuckle was not proven guilty did not remove the stain or the stench. The real stain upon the page was caused by the fact that Arbuckle's manner of living was bared before the public gaze. Instead of a rollicking good fellow we came to know him for what he was—and we need not even pause to picture him, for no one has forgotten the picture.

In returning Fatty Arbuckle to the privilege of moviedom, Hays has slipped a thousand miles in his power with the public and in the estimation of those who took him at his word when he declared his intention of cleaning up the movies. The powerful interests that befriended Arbuckle campaigned against Hays' good intentions, and their influence won with Hays, for Arbuckle.

But those interests and Hays have yet to deal with public opinion. And the public, not Hays, is the judge and jury in the case of Fatty Arbuckle.

THE FARMER'S MARKET

Governor Allen of Kansas is quoted by a New York newspaper as saying that there is no prejudice among the farmers of the Middle West against American co-operation with Europe in solving Old World problems.

"On the contrary," he says, "the farmers are ready to give intelligent consideration to any proposal which President Harding may advance to reopen their foreign markets through American help in restoring Europe. Whatever prejudice in favor of isolation may have existed two years ago has now disappeared, and the farmers are receptive toward any proposal to help Europe straighten out her affairs."

This judgment is corroborated by other observers. It seems to be true of farmers generally that they are taking an increasing interest in foreign affairs, as they realize how much their own prosperity is bound up with the ability of the foreign market to buy their products.

It was this fact which brought such a favorable reaction to Clemenceau's message—which was, in substance, an appeal for America to join in the councils of Europe for the benefit of both. It is natural that this attitude of the farming population is reflected increasingly at Washington.

SIT DOWN AND SIMPLIFY

Once upon a time there was a woman whose house ran badly because she was always getting rattled. Then a change came over her and her environment. Little by little her life straightened out, her house became orderly and her days likewise. A friend, likewise of the nervous type, always behind with everything she wanted to do, asked her secret.

"It's very simple," said the serene friend. "In fact, simple is the word. When I get all fussed over the number of things there are to do in a day, I just stop everything, sit down and simplify. I pick out the things that are absolutely necessary, and I arrange time for those first. (Do not forget at this point that time for enough rest of body and soul to keep your own strength up and your spirit sweet is one of the most necessary.) Then I scrutinize the rest of the planned activities with an eagle eye. If they can be cast off entirely, I do so. I try not so much to postpone as to clear out. Postponing is apt to clutter up the future.

"The first thing I know, all the necessary things are done and the day has a margin of pleasantness and peace. It's the untruffled mind that turns the trick. Next time you get yourself into a mess, just stop right where you are, sit down and simplify."

THE WANAMAKER WAY

The death of John Wanamaker, foremost of American merchants, arouses new interest in his career. Here, perhaps, is the most significant story told in illustration of his business methods:

When he started in the clothing business, his first day's receipts were $24.67. He kept the 67 cents to make change next morning and spent the $24 for advertising in the morning papers.

There was faith, at a time when newspaper advertising was considered largely experimental, to be indulged in with caution and moderation. Young Wanamaker's competitors were glad to see him "blow in his money" that way. They thought he was a fool. And one by one, he left them all in the rear.

Other factors there were in Wanamaker's remarkable success—his inauguration of fixed prices, plainly marked on all his goods, at a time when bargaining was the rule; his granting customers the privilege of returning goods; his classification of goods and development of the department idea; his quantity buying and rapid turnover, etc. But he himself always recognized that the biggest factor of all was continual, liberal, truthful advertising, giving the buying public the latest news about the things he had to sell.

Yes, aviation has made wonderful progress. Still and all, we notice that the Americans who started out a couple of months ago to fly from New York to Rio de Janeiro might have been there by this time if they'd walked.

We Are Owners of This

San Bernardino Sun

California, as a State, is in a way to become a millionaire owner of oil wells, or royalties or whatever it may be that comes out of an oil well and is transformed into dollars. The State's hospital for the insane at Norwalk is located on 400 acres of land that experts declare to be over all the way from $50,000,000 to $80,000,000 worth of petroleum.

Two things, therefore, are about to happen. The institution must be moved to another location, for it is already surrounded on three sides by oil derricks and even the executives of the institution cannot retain their sanity long in such an environment, while of course it is almost cruel to keep nervous unfortunates in such surroundings. The Norwalk hospital immediately adjoins the Santa Fe Springs oil district, one of the richest in the State thus far opened, and for some reason the geologists allege that the hospital grounds are the cream of the section.

All sorts of proposals to buy or lease the land are said to be in the air, made by interested promoters. It is not likely that any proposal will be considered or accepted until the question has gone before the Legislature in January, and when the land is sold or the right to drill wells is given, it will only be on the basis of competitive bids.

What will become of the Norwalk institution is another problem. Perhaps it will be located elsewhere in Los Angeles County, although the unequal results obtained at Patton, both in the matter of economy of operation and the percentage of cures might indicate to the new administration that both for the State itself and for the unfortunates it must care for, nothing better could be done than to transfer the appropriation to the Southern California State Hospital. The State has over $1,000,000 invested at Norwalk, in land and improvements.

The Right To Think

San Diego Union

What is one man's superstition may be another man's religion. Human beings do not think alike or believe alike. They may agree on some things, disagree on others and compromise on still others. Ignorance may be brought into conformity with knowledge by education—never by force even under the law enacted by the majority who have already been educated into the knowledge. There is nothing more uncertain and imperfect than the mental processes that we call "knowledge." That which the world may have regarded as an immutable truth yesterday is likely to be as immutably false tomorrow. This is because we deal only with effects—we know nothing of causes. Beyond the effect is a cause, which, when discovered, is merely another effect.

Hence, dogmatism is a dangerous process of human reasoning, and as a rule the dogmatist is more ignorant of that which he thinks he knows, than the person who disputes his belief or practice. All science, therefore, is merely a series of experiments, and even in such an important matter as health, one man's medicine may be another man's poison, and the method of one physician may be entirely unsuited to the needs of another physician's patients. This axiom is sustained by the medical profession itself which pronounces it "unethical" to mix physicians even of the same "school"; one must be dismissed before another can be employed. It has been observed also that the therapeutics of one "school" and even if individual practitioners oftentimes differ widely from those of every other.

Consequently it is clear that only such fundamentals as all are agreed upon may be regarded, temporarily at least, as safe for the patient, and however mistaken the individual of the layman class in any science, or philosophy may be, abstract justice insists that the layman shall be permitted to choose his own course whether in science, philosophy, religion, superstition, education, politics, belief, unbelief or agnosticism. Nobody should be denied the right to think, even if he thinks wrong—according to the way of another man's thinking.

Every Color But Blue

A Good Word For City

(From Colton Courier.)

Try this. Make a resolution when you come down to your office, your place of business or place of employment that you will say at least one good word for the city in which you live during the day.

Make a resolution that you will pass a cheerful boosting word to at least one acquaintance or stranger before the sun sets.

If you do this you'll be surprised how quickly it will become a habit, how much pleasure you will get out of it, and how almost miraculously the good things you predict for your town will come to pass.

Everyone loves a booster. He attracts good people to him just as the chronic fault finder repels those who approach him.

It is a peculiar fact that, sometimes, the business man is the last to learn the commercial value of boosting. He wonders why trade is dwindling without realizing that he, himself, is driving it away by dire predictions of disaster or skeptical remarks on current enterprises.

Start tomorrow. Say at least one good word for your city.

Worth While Verse

UNTO US A SON IS GIVEN

Given, not lent,
And not withdrawn—once sent,
This infant of mankind, this One,
Is still the little welcome Son.

New every year,
New born and newly dear,
He comes with tidings and a song,
The ages long, the ages long;

Even as the cold
Keen Winter grows not old,
As childhood is so fresh, foreseen,
And Spring, in the familiar green.

Sudden as sweet
Come the expected feet,
All joy is young and new all art,
And He, too, Whom we have by heart.

—By Alice Maynell.

Tom Sims Says

Everybody loves a fat man dressed like Santa Claus. These shortest days are the longest to a boy waiting for Santa Claus.

The too smallest place in the world is a boy's stomach on Christmas.

Christmas story: "Mama, I got a book already."

It is too late to shop early.

Give her an imported hair brush if you think she has imported hair.

Shop late and enjoy the rush.

Don't forget and give an Englishman Irish linen handkerchiefs.

A rug as a gift makes a room as snug as a bug in a rug.

Every Christmas three-fourths of the fat people get fatter.

A girl with a Christmas ring hates to wear her Christmas gloves.

A manicuring set is a good gift even if you don't know what all the crazy things are for.

A wise man and his money soon buy Christmas gifts.

About the most expensive gift we can think of is the gift of gab.

After you think you have finished your Christmas shopping you always find you haven't.

One may shop from sun to sun: but Christmas shopping's never done.

It will soon be time for new resolutions. We call them new, but they are old ones made over.

If you hear a noise it may be the loud Christmas ties.

Hide the children's presents with their school books and they will never find them.

Some kids get what they want while others get sensible presents.

Give your husband a new hat for Christmas and it will cap the climax.

It is estimated that ten million barefooted men stumble over toys in the dark every Christmas.

If you are just looking out for Number One this Christmas, remember it is the smallest number.

The best Christmas gift is the gift of knowing what others want.

Little Benny's

Note Book

By Lee Pope

This afternoon pop sent me around to the cigar store for some Queen Billie cigars, me getting there all rite but having a slight accident on the way home, and I handed the bag to pop and he took a cigar out, saying, 'Hello, what the dooce, wats the ideer sellin' you a cigar in eny such condition as this? Wats the matter with that berd? he sed.

Meaning the man in the cigar store, and I sed, Well, I guess maybe he didnt notice it, pop.

A blind man awt to of noticed that, pop sed. The darn thing's all frayed on the end. It looks like something awt to be hanging on a Crissman tree, he sed.

And he looked inside of the bag saying, Yee gods, I wont stand for this, theres not a perfect cigar in the bag, that fello must think Im some kind of an easy mark or something.

Well, he jest put them in the bag without looking at them, maybe he was thinking of something elts I sed.

He'll think of something elts wen I get throo with him, Im going rite eround there and raise cane with that berd, pop sed.

Me thinking, G. good nie. And I sed, Well hey, pop, maybe that ice wagon had something to do with it.

Are you allooding to that pin hed in the cigar store or is this a new angle to the story? pop sed, and I sed, Yes sir, I mean a reel ice waggin, I cawt a hitch on the back step of one on the way home so I could get back sooner with the cigars, and wen I jumped off I kind of socked the bag against the waggin, sort of.

Wat a sweet little tale, suppose you stay in after supper tonite, for jumping on waggins and suppose you go to bed an hour erly for ruinin' my cigars, pop sed.

Wich I did, both.

IN THE LONG AGO

From the Register Files

DECEMBER 22, 1908.

Today the first case ever filed in the juvenile court of this county was filed by District Attorney S. M. Davis.

Mrs. A. C. Twist, 1338 North Broadway, entertained in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Miss Dorothy Twist.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller, of South Dakota, have arrived here to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. C. C. Langley.

J. A. Farrar, of Wintersburg, has received complete returns from celery grown on three acres. He got $965.59 from the three acres. Cutting expense was $52.58.

The young people of the Christian church are planning a course of entertainments and lectures to be given this winter. The course will include Jacob Riis, great social reform leader; Edmond Vance Cook, poet; the Mead Symphony club, Los Angeles, and the Garland Quartet.

"Dear Editor:—In the Daily Register of Dec. 16, page 6, you published my late experience and how I was kicked by a mule. Please correct my name; it didn't appear right. My name is A. Arellano. Yours truly, A. Arellano."

Around the Town

By the Staff

A MEAL AT THE JAIL

The tender-hearted city editor has a habit of camping on a reporter's trail for "human interest stories."

Which is merely prefatory to the statement that this is to be a human interest yarn.

For what is of greater human interest than a dinner of corned beef and cabbage, even though it be eaten behind jail bars.

The reporter was a voluntary guest—and he asks your faith in believing that the visit was of his own volition—at the Orange county jail during dinner time. He watched the 160 old guests at Jailer Budge Lacy's establishment file past an array of tins, steaming hot, filled with the ancient Celtic delicacy. Mere boys, they were, many of them behind the bars for the first time.

From the time that Assistant Jailer Joseph Irvine drew back the clanking doors, and emitted a lusty shout which might have been understood the world over to mean "chow," until the last morsel of the tasty dish had been consumed, the reports watched.

And as he watched, he saw before him, a human interest story which, if it could be told, would doubtless prove a classic in the newspaper world.

He told Irvine, did this newspaperman, that even those employed in the world of art were forced to find sustenance in worldly things, and informed him of a growing vacuum northerly of his belt.

Hospitable as jail officials are reputed to be, he was surprised at the suddenness of the invitation to dine.

Five trustees, employed in kitchen police, rushed to serve a super-luxurious portion of dinner. "Iced tea, lemonade, coffee or milk, with your order," the cook asked. And truly enough, each of these beverages was on tap.

The great, was especially honored by being allied a knife and fork. Permit guests become so adept in manipulating a large spoon that other hardware is unnecessary.

When it was all gone—two helpings of it, the dinner guest was forced to leave. He now publicly expresses his admiration to Jess, the negro waiter, to Red and to Mike and to the other three men who completed the cheerful K. P. squad.

Which brings back to the fact that no human interest story has been written; that a more skillful pen artist might fail in portraying the picture.

But oh man—that corned beef and cabbage!

ANOTHER THING THE AUTO DID

We are getting used to blaming the automobile, and giving it credit, for many things.

Here's a new one.

The auto makes the work of the dog-catcher easy.

There was a time not so many years ago that a dog-catcher in Santa Ana had to employ a large net. In shape, the net was like that employed by entomology students out chasing butterflies.

All the dog-catcher had to do was to get close enough to the dog to clap down the net.

Sometimes the dog became frantic, and sometimes the dog-catcher would get a fang in his wrist.

It is different now. All the dog-catcher has to do is to spot his stray dog, drive up beside him, toot the horn, point to the running-board—and the dog jumps aboard.

The modern dog cannot withstand the allurements of joy-riding.

Faint Heart's Christmas Plea

By Berton Braley

Oh, Santa, oh, St. Nicholas, who brings us gifts to tickle us, Who rambles in and scrambles down the flue;

Among your visits various to houses multifarious

There is a task I'd like to ask of you:

I love a sweet divinity, a pearl of femininity,

Her hand I seek—but I'm too meek, I guess;

Please put her in your sleigh with you and hurry her away with you

And bring the Miss direct to this Address!

My heart may show unsteadiness, but all shall be in readiness

If you contrive to make the drive with her;

Instead of stockings hung about—as all the bards have sung about—

You'll find I've hung a trousseau, as it were,

Of raiment fashioned cunningly, which will bedeck her stunnily.

If, as I hope, she will elope with me;

Convention cannot harry us if you, a Saint, will marry us;

Who'd dare deny a Saint's propriety!

Pray, Santa, give a lift to me and bring this precious gift to me,

You have the verve and easy nerve I lack;

But once you safely land her here, I think she'll find life grander here.

And never sue or clamor to go back;

And as the time goes whirringly, and Christmas comes recurringly,

We may have flocks of little sox to hang,

Yes if the fates will humor us with tots, however numerous,

We'll just make you Godfather to The Gams!

Costa Mesa, Cal., Dec. 19, 1922.

Editor Register: Referring to Mrs. Dodge's letter printed in the "Public Forum" of December 19,

I would like to add that a good many parents in Costa Mesa have the same sentiments as she; and I notice that the question in regard to sending 11 and 12-year-old children fifteen miles to school every day was overlooked by Prof. Cranston.

What parent would want his child of such tender years sent away to school, necessitating travel on the bus which, experience in regard to high school pupils has shown, is very demoralizing.

The moral issue in regard to this movement is a very important factor and should be considered.

MRS. F. W. VIELLE,

Costa Mesa.

Mixed Letters

Tweekanose did the worst things ever! One of the meanest things he did was to change the notes around that the children wrote to Santa Claus.

And Nancy and Nick, Santa's faithful little helpers, had to keep their sharp eyes wide open
